DR. COLBERT DISMISSED AS MEDICAL DEAN AT ST. LOUIS U.

Figure in Controversy With Faculty Over Policy Says He Received Discharge Notice From Fr. Reinert.

Dr. James W. Colbert Jr. said today that he had been dismissed as dean of the St. Louis University School of Medicine, effective Dec. 31.

Dr. Colbert said he was notified of his dismissal last Tuesday by the Very Rev. Paul C. Reinert S.J., president of the university. Father Reinert gave no reason for the action, Dr. Colbert said.

"Apparently the president is no longer pleased with my services," Dr. Colbert said in a prepared statement. He was dean of the School of Medicine since mid-1953.

Dr. Colbert said the dismissal action was taken after the university's board of trustees rescinded his firing of two members of the medical school faculty. Announcement of the board's action was made yesterday, but Dr. Colbert said he was informed of it before Tuesday.

Defends Firings.

Dr. Colbert declined to speculate on whether his firings of the two doctors was the reason for his being dismissed. However, he defended his move as necessary "to preserve the integrity of the academic community."

The 41-year-old dean became a controversial figure last October when he discharged 149 part-time faculty members who, he said, were not participating in the university's program as fully as expected.

At the time, he announced a new policy requiring faculty members to send at least some of their private patients to the university's hospitals. The policy required the doctors to accept educational responsibilities when assigned.

The dismissals and the policy brought some protests from physicians associated with the university. However, Dr. Colbert said, Father Reinert supportetd his decisions at that time.

Protest Against Action.

In November, 11 physician faculty members signed a statement protesting against the wholesale firings. The statement was read at a meeting of the St. Mary's Hospital staff.

Dr. Colbert quickly fired two of the signers, Dr. James G. Janney Jr., associate professor of clinical medicine and director of the cardiology section, and Dr. William F. Melick, associate professor of clinical urology and director of the urology department.

A committee of the university's board of trustees rescinded the dismissals of Drs. Janney and Melick until the full board decided to reverse Dr. Colbert's decision.

In response to a reporter's questions, Dr. Colbert said that he is "confident of the rightness of the action I took" in firing the doctors.

By presenting the statement of protest at a hospital staff meeting, the doctors "totally ignored" the normal channels for redress, he said. Under ordinary circumstances, Dr. Colbert said, complaints should be sumbitted to a department head in the School of Medicine, to the dean or to an administrative board in the

U.N. REJECTS SEATING OF RED CHINA, 48 TO 36

Vote a Victory for U.S. — Contrary to Expectations, Margin Is Greater Than Year Ago.

© New York Times News Service

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Dec. 6—The General Assembly rejected yesterday a proposal to seat Communist China in the United Nations by a vote of 48 to 36. Twenty nations abstained.

The failure to obtain a majority for admitting the Peiping government made irrelevant a United States-backed resolution approved earlier. Introduced to meet the possibility of a slim voting edge for admission, it defined the question as an important one needing a two-thirds majority for passage.

The margin against admitting the Peiping government, contrary to general expectation, was slightly larger than it was last year. It added up to a somewhat firmer United States victory than even members of the United States delegation had been expecting.

The vote defeated a Soviet-sponsored resolution calling for the immediate removal of "the representatives of the Chiang Kai-shek clique" and the seating of the Communist Chinese.

Also defeated, by a vote of 45 to 30, with 29 abstentions, was an amendment offered by Ceylon, Cambodia and Indonesia, which would have softened the wording of the Soviet resolution, although retaining its substance.

A few minutes before the Soviet draft was defeated, the United States-backed five-power resolution was approved 61 to 34 with seven abstentions, which made passage of any substantive measure on China subject to a two-thirds majority.

Its approval is expected to give the United States a precedent to fall back on at the next General Assembly session, when the issue will come up again.

GIRL TWISTS WAY OUT OF ACTION, OUT OF COLLEGE

MADISON, Wis., Dec. 16 (UPI)—One twist too many has put Sandi Schauder in the University of Wisconsin infirmary. The 20-year-old girl student twisted too persistently at fraternity parties.

She dislocated both knees, wound up on crutches and will have to drop out of school for the semester.

Miss Schauder was doing the dance called the Twist last month when she dislocated one knee. She was on crutches for a week.

As soon as she was back in dancing shape, she went to another party and tried the Twist again. The other knee gave way.

She insisted on being taken back to the Delta Delta Delta sorority house, where she lives.

"I've been through this before," the Rhinelander (Wis.) girl said. "I know how to take care of it."

However her sorority sisters sent her to the infirmary when she demonstrated that she could stand facing north and bend her leg not only south but east and west as well. She needed an operation to clamp her knee back together.

SUBNORMAL COLD IS FORECAST IN 30-DAY OUTLOOK

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP)—The Weather Bureau said yesterday that its 30-day outlook for mid-December to mid-January is for temperatures to average below seasonal normals over the western two-thirds of the nation.

The greatest unseasonal departures are likely over the western plateau region and the central plains, the bureau said. Above normal temperatures are predicted for the area East of the Appalachians and in the east Gulf states. In the remaining zone, about normal temperatures are predicted, the bureau said.

Precipitation is expected to exceed normal over the eastern half of the nation, except on the Atlantic seaboard where near or subnormal amounts are indicated. Greater than normal amounts are predicted for the far southwest. Below normal precipitation is expected for the pacific northwest.

In unspecified areas about normal amounts are foreseen.

Merchants Offer Baby-Sitter Service for Shoppers.

JOLIET, Ill., Dec. 16 (AP) — Merchants in the downtown area are trying to attract more Christmas shoppers by offering free parking—for children.

The Chamber of Commerce said it will open a center Monday to take care of children 3 years old or older while their parents are shopping.

SUNDAY SALES TO BE CHECKED IN CITY, COUNTY

Reardon, Anderson Plan Civil Actions Against Persistent Violators of Law.

City and county authorities have been instructed to check tomorrow for violators of the Sunday sales law, Circuit Attorney Daniel P. Reardon Jr. of St. Louis and Prosecuting Attorney Norman H. Anderson of St. Louis county said today.

Both officials said that they will take civil action against operators of stores that persist in violating the law.

A number of discount houses have advertised in newspapers this week that they will be open on Sunday.

The Missouri Supreme Court, in a ruling last Monday, upheld the 136-year-old law which prohibits Sunday sales of goods other than "drugs or medicines, provisions or other articles of immediate necessity." The ruling brought from Attorney General Thomas F. Eagleton a statement urging prosecuting officials to enforce the law.

100 in City.

Reardon said that six members of his staff will visit about 100 business establishments in the city tomorrow, principally clothing, appliance, furniture and drug stores, and automobile agencies. Owners and managers of establishments that are operating illegally will be notified that they are required by law to close, Reardon said.

If they do not comply, civil action will be taken against them, he said. He did not specify whether he would file a quo warranto motion, seeking to revoke the charter of the violating corporation, or would request an injunction, seeking to enjoin the firm from doing business on Sunday at the risk of being in contempt of court. The quo warranto action could apply only to corporations and not to individually owned businesses.

Anderson said that a county police squad will check for violations of the Sunday sales law tomorrow. In cases where persistant violations occur, he said, establishments will receive notification from the secretary of state warning them that a complain. has been made by the county prosecutor. If the stores continue to operate, Anderson said, he will file civil action against them.

Anderson did not specify which

From Ancient to Atomic Age Comes a Biscuit to Aid Survival

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP)—The Pentagon is reaching back to ancient times for a long-lasting wheat wafer food with which to stock fallout shelters of this atomic age.

The Defense Department said today that it will buy about 150,000,000 pounds of bulgur biscuits — a survival biscuit made of crushed wheat which can last at least five years without spoiling.

The two-inch-square wafers, tasting a little like graham crackers, will be placed in shelters being marked across the country. Shelter space to accommodate about 50,000,000 persons is expected to be selected and marked by December 1962.

Planners say the bulgur biscuits can provide a 2000-calorie-a-day diet for five days. This would break down to about a pound of biscuits for each person daily. Officials said they hope to acquire the biscuits for less than 20 cents a pound.

The Pentagon announced also plans to start acquiring medical first-aid kits, radiation counters, and enough canned water for a 14-day supply in all shelter spaces.

The Federal Government will buy the food, water, and other equipment from a $58,000,000 fund. The supplies will be turned over to state and local civil defense agencies for distribution.

A civil defense official said the bulgur — a parched wheat which draws its name from a Turkish area — is "probably one of the most ancient foods." The biscuit was developed by Department of Agriculture Research scientists at Albany, Calif.

KENNEDY IN TALK TO VENEZUELANS URGES END OF DICTATORSHIPS

President, at Caracas on Latin American Trip, Says Hemisphere Must Be Freed of Tyranny.

By RICHARD DUDMAN
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

CARACAS, Dec. 16—President Kennedy called today for the elimination of dictatorship from the Western Hemisphere.

In a speech delivered at a Venezuelan land reform project, Mr. Kennedy linked political democracy with economic and social progress as essential goals for the American nations.

Mr. Kennedy's arrival from Puerto Rico, where he spent last night, was without incident. However, on the 10-mile drive from the airport into the city, he was protected by the tightest security arrangements in this country's history. Soldiers a few paces apart lined the route.

Helicopter patrolled overhead as Mr. Kennedy rode with President Romulo Betancourt in the bullet-proof, bubble-top automobile shipped here from Washington for the visit.

Mrs. Betancourt was on hand to welcome Mrs. Kennedy and they rode together in another car.

Praised by Betancourt.

Welcoming him at Maiquetia Airport, Betancourt introduced President Kennedy as a man who is rectifying the "arrogant belief" that the friendship of Latin America's 180,000,000 people could be guaranteed by dictators.

There were shouts of "Viva Kennedy" as the car bearing the two presidents moved toward the city. While the welcome was warm, crowds in general were thinner than might have been expected. Many were kept away, probably, by threatening and rainy weather and by the security measures.

On reaching the south edge of Caracas, Mr. Kennedy boarded a helicopter to visit housing and agrarian reform projects.

In his principal speech, after complimenting Betancourt as one of the great leaders of the Americas, who led a transition from an oppressive dictatorship, Mr. Kennedy said:

"One of the first goals of the new inter-Americanism must be the elimination of all such tyranny, of whatever source or breed, until this is a hemisphere of democratic and independent nations from Cape Horn to the Arctic Circle."

Welcomes Chance to Help.

He said that the United States welcomed the chance to help Venezuela with its reform program designed to eliminate the tyranny of poverty and hunger and ignorance.

"The achievement of these two freedoms, freedom from dictatorship and freedom from the bonds of economic and social injustice, is the contribution of our generation to the dream of Bolivar and to the work of (Franklin D.) Roosevelt—our addition to the historic aims of the Americas," he said, "and we will not rest content until they have been achieved."

Mr. Kennedy's attack on dictatorship was unexpected because United States officials have been avoiding any suggestion that economic aid will be withheld from dictatorships under the Alliance for Progress, the President's plan for economic and social development and reform.

The United States has been relying on the dictatorships as well as the democracies in rounding up support for hemispheric action against Fidel Castro's Communist-line regime in Cuba.

The Dictatorships.

Mr. Kennedy did not identify the American dictatorships. The best known are those of Castro in Cuba, President Alfredo Stroessner in Paraguay, President Luis Somoza in Nicaragua and Francois Duvalier in Haiti.

The President received word last night of another dictatorship developing in the Dominican Republic. In a hurriedly called conference at San Juan with Consul General John Calvin Hill, Assistant Secretary of State for Inter-American Affairs Robert Woodward and his deputy, Arturo Morales-Carrion, Mr. Kennedy was told that the remnants of the Trujillo regime are rapidly being converted into a new fascist-type dictatorship.

It was understood that Mr. Kennedy was warned particularly that Brig. Gen. Pedro Rafael Rodriguez Echavarria, chief of Dominican armed forces, was concentrating in his own hands control of the nation and its economy. The growing impression is that Echavarria is showing

U.S. SAYS NATO COUNCIL SESSION WAS SUCCESS

New Soundings of Russia on Berlin Approved After Wrangle With France.

By MARQUIS W. CHILDS
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

PARIS, Dec. 16—With a final wrangle over the question of negotiation with the Russians on Berlin, the council of ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization ended the annual winter session here last night.

The French held out through several hours of controversy over language in the final communique that would seem to put the council on record as approving further soundings of Moscow. The French throughout the week have held to their position that any approach to the Russians will be misconstrued as weakness and that, therefore, any initiative must come from the East.

Despite the sharp differences over Berlin and Katanga, American sources insisted that the meeting had been successful and had advanced the cause of the alliance. Although much remains to be done in increasing conventional forces, military strength is at a new high, it was reported to the council.

McNamara's Report.

Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara in his report to the council had pointed to the effort made by the United States to build up the conventional force and had implied that the other NATO powers could do much more than they had. However, an American source summing up the meeting insisted that there had been no marked difference over the military contribution of the larger powers.

The question of an independent nuclear striking force for NATO as raised by West German Defense Minister Franz-Josef Strauss was referred to the permanent NATO council with a high priority. Despite the complexity of the problem and the difficulties involved in "15 fingers on the trigger," it was the American belief that this could be worked out in the coming year.

The American position on the United Nations action in The Congo seems to have been modified somewhat by the attack

THANT DELAYS CEASE-FIRE IN CONGO UNTIL U.N. WINS

Secretary Considers New Pleas, but Says All Objectives Must Be Achieved.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Dec. 16 (AP)—Acting Secretary General U Thant was holding out today against a cease-fire in Katanga until the United Nations has won all its objectives in fighting there.

He made that clear last night in replying to cabled pleas from the leaders of two French-speaking African countries that he "issue formal instructions for an immediate cease-fire in Katanga."

Thant told President Abbe Fulbert Youlou of The Congo (Brazzaville) and President Philibert Tsiranana of the Malagasy Republic that he was considering their pleas.

But he said the U.N. could stop fighting only when it had freedom of movement and freedom from attack, plus clear guarantees that it could carry out completely all Congo resolutions "to the satisfaction of Security Council and General Assembly."

Resolutions Listed.

Those resolutions call for the removal of all foreign mercenaries from The Congo, upheld the territorial integrity of the country and demand an end to secessionist activities in President Moise Tshombe's Katanga.

President Youlou asked that the Security Council meet immediately to proclaim a cease-fire. But the council president, Omar Loutfi of the United Arab Republic, was not expected to convene the council until Tuesday or Wednesday.

Thant called together his 18-nation advisory committee on The Congo today to get its views on a cease-fire appeal made on Wednesday by Britain—and presumably the new ones from the French African republics.

The committee was expected to advise him not to order a cease-fire in Katanga till the U.N. had won. Most of its members are African and Asian countries which have taken the position that the U.N. should keep fighting till Tshombe will bring Katanga back into The Congo.

Thant set forth his stand after

YOUNG KENNEDYS FLY TO FLORIDA FOR CHRISTMAS

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Dec. 16 (UPI)—Caroline Kennedy and her younger brother arrived in Florida under tight security guard last night to stay with their grandparents while President and Mrs. Kennedy make a Latin American tour.

Four-year-old Caroline and her year-old brother, John Jr., arrived on the family's personal plane from Washington, accompanied by their nurse, Maude Shaw.

The plane was met by the children's grandfather, former Ambassador Joseph Kennedy, and the party went to his oceanside home at Palm Beach. Secret Service agents and local police set up tight security around the airport for arrival of the Kennedy children. Reporters and photographers were prohibited from questioning or taking pictures of the children.

The Kennedy children will be joined by their parents later this month for the Christmas holidays.

RUSSIANS REPORT LATIN OBJECTIONS TO KENNEDY TRIP

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Radio

MOSCOW, Dec. 16—A Soviet press report indicated yesterday that Communists hope to make President Kennedy's visit to Venezuela and Colombia as unpleasant as they made the 1958 South American trip by then Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

An article headlined "Persona non Grata" in the Russian Federation's literary paper, Literature and Life, predicted that people in Venezuela and Colombia are preparing to deliver another "slap in the face" to American policy.

A group of Venezuelan journalists has called President Kennedy "persona non grata" (unwelcome), the article said, adding, "as events show, this is the point of view of all Latin American countries."

The only "event" mentioned was a demonstration in Caracas at which it said an American flag was burned amid chants of "Away with Yankee imperialism."

Hard-Pressed Family Shares Windfall of Christmas Toys

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., Dec. 16 (AP)—Leroy O'Dell has worked only three months this year. The 32-year-old Mount Clemens construction worker and his wife, Arlene, have four children 10 months to 10 years old.

But O'Dell and his wife walked into the Goodfellows office yesterday with arms full of toys because "we had an unexepected stroke of good luck and we want to share it with others. We know what it means to be hard-pressed." The Goodfellows are a charity group.

Mrs. O'Dell explained that earlier this week a Detroit television station called and asked her to name the foreign ministers of Great Britain, France, Russia and Germany. She answered Lord Home, Maurice Couve de Murville, Andrei Gromyko and Gerhard Schroeder and won $921 and 100 toys.

She said, "The money will help pay off some of our bills. We kept some of the toys for our kids and distributed some more among our friends and neighbors. We felt the rest should go to needy children."

RESISTANCE SAID TO BE CRUMBLING AS GOVERNMENT ABANDONS CITY

Swedish Soldiers Overwhelm Defenders of Camp Massert—Two Other Strong Points Fall.

LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo, Dec. 16 (AP)—United Nations Swedish troops captured today the main Katangan base in Elisabethville and drove against holdout forces in the heart of the city against weakening resistance. Two other strong points also fell to U.N. attack.

President Moise Tshombe of Katanga moved his government 30 miles south to the mining town of Kipushi, a spokesman for his regime reported from nearby Northern Rhodesia.

Three companies of Swedish troops captured Camp Massert, Katangan stronghold on the eastern side of Elisabethville, overwhelming 350 defenders, a U.N. announcement said. The fall of the camp was expected to break the back of Katangan resistance in the capital.

Katangans Hold Center.

The attackers held the northern half of the city and its eastern and western approaches, the Katangans the center of the capital and the southern district and suburbs.

(A Katanga mission spokesman in Brussels, denied Tshombe had left for Kipushi. But he said his last contact with the President in Elisabethville was several hours earlier. He added: "We cannot say with absolute certainty that he is still there at this moment.")

On the second day of an all-out attack, the 6000-man U.N. army captured the Lido Hotel on the western side of the city near Tshombe's residence. The hotel commands one of the two main roads leading south from the capital toward Rhodesia.

Tunnel Captured.

The second strong point to fall was the railroad tunnel commanding the main road into the city from the eastern suburbs, site of Irish and Swedish U.N. force headquarters.

A heavy battle between Katangans and the Swedish and Irish attackers had raged around the railroad tunnel throughout the night. Up to last night the Katangan troops had held the tunnel and its approaches.

The engagement was marked by a barrage of mortar shells and the clatter of machine-gun fire. Many mortar bombs fell in the streets and near the post office.

Katangan troops manned mortar positions around the Leopold II Hotel, which was rapidly becoming a front line in the heart of the city. The hotel is only 30 yards from the post office, which was deserted.

Heavy rain fell on the streets as mortar bombs dropped regularly.

The United Nations reported that its forces had overrun the golf course near the Lido Hotel. High points used for mortar positions and sniper centers on the road from U.N. headquarters to the airport also were seized.

Report from Brussels.

(In Brussels, a communique from Elisabethville released by the Katanga delegation to Belgium accused the United Nations of mass shelling the city's residential center.

("On the twelfth day of fighting, the United Nations forces started at 0330 local time a general offensive which led to a massacre of the Elisabethville civilian population," the communique said. "All previous U.N. actions have failed to reach the horror of last night's drama.

("More than 1000 mortar shells fell on the Katanga capital, destroying dozens of houses mostly inhabited by civilians. The number of dead and wounded has not yet been disclosed. . . . Such an act of hatred and destruction . . . condemns the U.N. organization. Katanga will continue the fight. . . . Last night's butchery will only strengthen our faith in the final victorious issue of a just fight which we will pursue in defense of freedom and justice."

(The communique was signed: Tshombe.)

All that is left to the Katangan forces is the center of the

SOUTH VIET NAM AGREES TO MAKE REFORMS TO GET MORE U.S. HELP

Plans Social Changes and More Representative Government to Make Aid More Effective.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP) —The United States and South Viet Nam have agreed on new steps, including measures for social reform and more representative government, to make additional United States aid more effective in combating Communism in the Southeast Asian republic.

Informed sources reported today details of the agreement between President Ngo Dinh Diem and United States Ambassador Frederick E. Nolting Jr. which cleared the way for the increase in United States assistance announced yesterday.

The sources said also that Nolting has flown from his post in Saigon to Pearl Harbor for consultations with United States military authorities.

United States officials said Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara will join the Pearl Harbor meeting on his return from the ministerial meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization in Paris.

McNamara invited Nolting to the talks with Adm. Harry D. Felt, commander in chief of United States forces in the Pacific, and a review will be held on implementing the increased support for South Viet Nam ordered by President Kennedy.

Agreements Reached.

The fact that Mr. Kennedy ordered more aid, said informants, indicates that firm agreement had been reached on a number of reform measures.

Among them were:

1. An agreement by Diem to share some of his decision-making responsibilities with the South Viet Nam National Council. Diem has agreed to meet with the council at least twice a week. The move was a step toward more representative government.

2. An agreement by the South Viet Nam leadership of new ideas on the training and deployment of the Viet Nam armed forces.

4. Acceptance of joint United States-Viet Nam teams to determine and report on social and economic conditions in the country.

5. Acceptance by South Viet Nam of joint intelligence operations with United States military personnel in the campaign against the Viet Cong (Communist) infiltrators.

6. A decision to increase pay of militia forces and some civil servants to improve morale.

7. A crackdown on nepotism and corruption in the administration of certain districts.

8. Better utilization of Viet Nam's local currency and counterpart funds generated by the sale of United States aid commodities.

Others Not Revealed.

Other measures were not disclosed.

Nolting's conferences with Diem followed Gen. Maxwell Taylor's tour of South Viet Nam last October. Taylor, Mr. Kennedy's special military adviser, was reported to have recommended to the President that before United States assistance was increased, Diem should be prevailed on to make internal reforms.

A period of coolness followed between Saigon and Washington. And some South Viet Nam newspapers which usually reflect Diem's views accused the United States of Imperialism.

But informants here said that Diem came to the conclusion the United States was only trying to increase his nation's ability to withstand the Communist thrusts and was not attempting to impose its will.

SOCIALIST EFFORT TO UPSET DEBRE GOVERNMENT FAILS

PARIS, Dec. 16 (AP) — A Socialist attempt to overthrow the government of Premier Debre with a vite of censure failed early today. The censure motion was only 199 votes of the 276 necessary to unseat the Cabinet.

Opponents of the government never had any real hope of getting enough votes to adopt the censure motion. In October, November and December of 1960 the opposition rallied 207, 214 and 215 votes on motions of censure based on President De Gaulle's determination to build up an independent Frer nuclear force.

The censure vote was the closing item on the agenda of the current session of Parliament. The next regular session of the National Assembly and Senate will open late in April.

East Germany Bans Christmas Visitors From West Berlin Area

BERLIN, Dec. 16 (AP)—East Germany has dashed hopes of Berliners that they might be allowed to cross the Red wall for Christmas family reunions.

West Berlin City Hall announced yesterday its plans to have travel restrictions for Berliners in their divided city reduced to a minimum had been turned down by the Communists.

About every third West Berliner has relatives living behind the fortified border the Communists have erected. Many would like to visit their fence-in relatives in the Christmas holiday season.

East Germans are not allowed by the Communists to cross into West Berlin. West Berliners must have an entry permit if they want to go to East Berlin. But West Berlin's senate still will allow Communist permit offices to be set up in West Berlin.

The Senate (city council) suggested, however, that special permit offices be set up so that relatives could visit each other. It suggested that negotiations to this end be conducted through the Red Cross, because the West Berlin city administration does not recognize the city fathers of East Berlin.

The East Berlin police chief, Fritz Eickemeier, replied:

"It is not cusctomary to discuss travel problems via the Red Cross. It is generally known that negotiations on your suggestion can only be conducted between the Senate and the East German government."

30,000 Troops on Guard.

Here in Venezuela, in the face of threatened violent demonstrations, President Betancourt called out 30,000 troops to guard the Caracas airport as he flew from Maiquetia airport to Caracas. White House officials said there need been any thought of canceling the visit to Venezuela, although leftist groups have threatened repetition of the attacks on Vice President Richard M. Nixon in May 1958.

Mr. Kennedy's major speech here gave new emphasis to the land reform and tax reform features of the Alliance for Progress.

No real progress is possible without those basic social reforms—land reform and tax reforms and others—which insure that the benefits of increasing prosperity will go directly to the people whose need is the greatest, he said.

The scene of his address wa La Morita, an agrarian reform project financed by Venezuelan capital. Eighty-six families are to receive nine acres each and will have 30 years to pay about $1000 for the cost of a house and electricity.

Welcome at San Juan.

Tens of thousands of Puerto Ricans shouted and waved flags yesterday afternoon in a rousing welcome at San Juan for the President and Mrs. Kennedy.

Signs, many of them hand lettered, proclaimed the welcome and bespoke friendship for the President and for the United States Government, of which Puerto Rico is a commonwealth.

There were no pickets supporting Castro, Puerto Rican independence or statehood, such as those that swarmed outside the airport terminal when former President Dwight D. Eisenhower stopped there briefly en route to South America in March 1960.

After riding into the old city with Gov. Luis Munoz-Marin, the President said he was extremely touched by the warm welcome. his press secretary, Pierre Salinger, reported later.

Cuban Pickets.

The only demonstrators along the route were a group of pickets who said they were exiled Cubans. Their signs included, "Cuba is the rotten apple in the barrel of the Americas." "President Kennedy, what are you waiting for?" and, "We have the men—give us the arms."

The President and his wife were entertained at dinner, with 23 other guests, by Gov. and Mrs. Munoz-Marin in the Governor's residence in La Fortaleza, a historic fortress in the old city. They heard a recital by a Puerto Rican pianist, Jesus Maria Sanromma.

Among the guests was Pablo Casals, the cellist, who played at a White House dinner last month when Munoz-Marin was a guest there.

U.S. JUDGE J. S. WRIGHT NAMED TO APPEALS COURT

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Dec. 16 (AP)—President Kennedy yesterday promoted United States District Judge J. Skelly Wright, who ruled against a controversial Louisiana school law to help keep segregation, to the Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

The President announced the appointment in acknowledging the retirement of Judge E. Barrett Prettyman from the Washington circuit bench.

White House press secretary Pierre Salinger announced the appointment shortly after the President and Mrs. Kennedy arrived in San Juan on the first stop, of their weekend Latin American visit.

DEMONSTRATION BAN BY COURTS AT BATON ROUGE

U.S., State Judges Issue Orders After Police Use Tear Gas Against 1000.

BATON ROUGE, La., Dec. 16 (AP)—The Congress of Racial Equality was under federal and state courts orders today to stop demonstrations in Baton Rouge against racial discrimination, after police used tear gas to quell more than 1000 Negroes. The order applies only to demonstrations in Baton Rouge.

Three C.O.R.E. leaders were among 73 Negroes jailed Thursday and yesterday in a series of protests that culminated yesterday afternoon when police used tear gas at least five times to stop disturbances in the downtown business area.

Davis Dennis, C.O.R.E. field representative for Louisiana, was jailed with 22 other Negroes Thursday for blocking a public thoroughfare when picketing downtown stores. Ronnie Moore, C.O.R.E. leader at all-Negro Southern University, was arrested in yesterday's demonstrations and charged—with 48 others—with disturbing the peace.

The Rev. E. B. Cook, C.O.R.E. field secretary from High Point, N.C., was arrested last night on two charges of conspiring to riot and inciting to riot.

Bond for the three C.O.R.E. leaders was set at $1500 apiece.

Steps to Halt Demonstrations.

Officials took steps late yesterday to head off further demonstrations:

(1) United States District Judge Gordon West issued a restraining order against C.O.R.E. that forbade any activity which might tend to breach the peace. He set a show-cause hearing for Jan. 4.

(2) Three state judges, C. A. Barrett, Fred Blanche and Fred Leblanc, signed a similar restraining order that named a number of C.O.R.E. leaders in Baton Rouge and New Orleans. They set a show-cause hearing for Dec. 28.

(3) The Dean of Southern University, Dr. E. C. Harrison, said Christmas holidays would begin today rather than Dec. 19.

The tear gas attacks followed demonstrations in front of the East Baton Rouge courthouse, where the 22 arrested Thursday were jailed; at the nearby old State Capitol, on the edge of the business district, and in downtown streets filled with Christmas shoppers.

Each time the marchers, led by Southern University students, regrouped to continue the demonstrations, officers fired tear gas.

On Injuries Reported.

Officers used two police dogs in making the arrests. There were no reports of injuries.

Authorities told Cox that the group could assemble across from the courthouse and sing but that it must not go out of hand. But when Negroes on the sidewalk started cheering at the singing "We Shall Overcome," which came from the Negroes in jail, Sheriff Bryan Clemmons demanded the crowd-break up. As another roar rose from the group, the first tear gas grenade was set off.

The Negroes broke and ran toward the old State Capitol to reassemble. Demonstrations spread through the downtown area as Negroes headed for two variety stores, Kress and Woolworth's. McCrory's closed its doors to all Negroes, and Kress locked off its lunch counter.

As the afternoon wore on, groups of Negroes downtown thinned out, although many continued to mill through the streets.

In the evening, about 500 Southern students gathered on the campus and filed to a Negro church to hear speakers denounce action by city police officials.

State, city and parish police officers were dispatched to the campus to prevent any recurrence of the demonstrations and to see that traffic was not interfered with. The meeting broke up quietly and the students returned to the campus.

Negotiations Broken Off.

In Georgia, the Albany City Commission broke off negotiations today with Negro leaders over demands to lower segregation barriers in the city.

The action came as Negroes resumed a renewal of demonstrations which have resulted in more than 550 arrests this week.

The city said it could not continue negotiations in view of what it called the apparent intention of the Negroes not to live up to their pledge not to stage demonstrations while the talks were going on.

Pope John Calls on Leaders To Establish Peace in Congo

Plea Considered a Response to Requests of Belgium, Katanga for His Intervention.

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 16 (AP) —Pope John XXIII called on responsible leaders today to reestablish peace in The Congo.

The pontiff's plea was considered to be a response to requests from Belgium and Katanga's President MoiseTshombe for the Pope's intervention in the Congo conflict.

Pope John said:

"We turn to all who can and should, with disinterested counsel, objective information and the light of right, co-operate to establish peace in that country, to prepare tranquil and serene days for all.

"This is the most fervent prayer that we elevate to almighty God through the intercession of His celestial mother."

The pontiff urged all men of good will to join him in this prayer.

Pope John described the conflict in The Congo as "an evil that flays our soul."

The pontiff spoke about The Congo in two general audiences he held today. He reserved his more detailed statement for an audience for delegates to the first International Congress of the Roman-Catholic Church for Religious Vocations.

Pope John commented that the delegates to this congress, concerned primarily in recruiting young men to the priesthood, came from all parts of the world.

He then said that the world's news "was not all festive" and there has been "a sharpening (development) in the great nations that have the name of Congo."

Independence, he said, had not brought those lands the hoped-for well-being, prestige and impulse for works of peace.

"Behold, those blessed lands are bathed with blood and their people—above all the youth—are placed in very difficult position and face an uncertain future.

"We who have daily contact with the blood of Christ in the Eucharistic mystery (of the Mass) cannot remain unmoved before this complex of pain and ruin, and of consequences near and far and of a general disorder produced by a state of things that afflicts us profoundly."

RECORDS OF $30,000,000 AMONG TRUJILLO PAPERS

SANTO DOMINGO, Dec. 16 (AP) — The Dominicaa government announced yesterday that it had found among Trujillo family papers taken from the confiscated yacht Angelita checks and deposit certificates for $30,000,000.

The checks and certificates were drawn against banks in Nova Scotia and Toronto, and made out to and indorsed by Rafael Trujillo Jr., son of the late dictator, the announcement said.

Young Trujillo, who headed the armed forces after his father's assassination, sailed in the Angelita to exile last month. He flew to Paris from the French island of Guadeloupe and the yacht returned here. Fidel Menez Nunez, director of the office of recovery and property, said that the government is attempting to freeze the funds and recover them.

LUTHULI RETURNS TO AFRICA WITH NOBEL PRIZE, CHEERED

DURBAN, South Africa, Dec. 16 (AP)—Albert John Luthuli, the first African to win the Nobel Peace Prize, returned to South Africa last night and received a cheering welcome from more than 1000 Africans at Durban.

Luthuli, awarded the 1960 peace prize for his non-violent resistance to the South African government's white supremacist policies, was cheered as he drove into the city.

The government has banned him from addressing public gatherings and only reluctantly allowed him to leave the detention of his native village to go to Oslo to receive the Nobel award.

GHANA GETTING $133,000,000 LOAN FROM U.S.

Grant for Dam Project Being Made Despite Nkrumah's Leftist Tendencies.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (UPI) —The United States announced today that it will provide $133,000,000 for Ghana's Volta river dam and aluminum smelter project despite differences over Ghina's leftist policies.

The State Department announced that President Kennedy's representative, Clarence Randall, was informing the Ghana government of the United States decision in Accra today.

In announcing the agreement, United States officials emphasized that it was set up with elaborate escape clauses entitling the United States to withdraw at any time for financial or political reasons.

Mr. Kennedy, in late September, was reported to be concerned about what some of his advisors regarded as an increasingly pro-Soviet stand by Ghana President Kwame Nkrumah.

The United States commitment involves $37,000,000 in loans to the Volta River Authority, a Ghana institution similar to the Tennessee Valley Authority. The dam will provide electric power, irrigation and water transportation on the Volta river basin.

The United States is also providing $96,000,000 through the Export-Import Bank to a consortium owned by the Kaiser and Reynolds aluminum companies, which will build an aluminum smelter to operate from the dam's power.

The project is the biggest of its kind in Africa and is the key to industrialization of Ghana. In addition to providing power for the smelter, it will provide electricity for the southern third of Ghana, where half the population lives.

Randall was reported to have told President Kennedy that the project was economically feasible.

The Development Loan Fund, the Export-Import Bank, the World Bank, and the British government earlier had declared the hydroelectric project sound enough to warrant participation, providing Ghana paid half of the cost.

In addition to the United States contribution, the dam is being financed by a $14,000,000 loan from Britain, $47,000,000 from the World Bank and $38,000,000 provided by the Ghana government.

BAR ASSOCIATION OPPOSES ADDING 2 MAGISTRATE COURTS IN CITY

Says Extra Expense Is Not Justified—Cites Present Light Case Load, Short Work Week.

A proposal that two additional magistrate courts be established in St. Louis, effective Dec. 31, 1962, was opposed by the Bar Association of St. Louis in an intervening petition filed yesterday in circuit court.

The association, through its executive committee, declared that the addition of expense of two more magistrate courts, including the election of two extra constables and the hiring of more clerks and deputies, would not be justified in view of the present light case load and short work week in these courts.

Pending before circuit court en banc is a petition requesting that the number of St. Louis magistrates be increased from nine to 11. St. Louis has 10 magistrate courts, but is scheduled to lose one starting in 1963 as a result of the city's population loss since 1950.

St. Louis circuit court is empowered by state law, however, to authorize two additional magistrates for the city if it deems this necessary. The bar association contended that the needs of justice and the administration of justice do not require them, and that nine magistrates can efficiently handle the case loads in their courts.

Two Other Petitions.

Two other intervening petitions were filed in the proceeding yesterday. The magistrates urged the court to approve one additional court so that the number would remain at 10.

The other was presented by Herbert G. Smith, president of the Association of City Taxpayers, a non-profit organization recently formed to combat waste and inefficiency in state and city government. It argued that the additional expense, estimated at $63,000 a year, would be unwarranted in view of the city's population loss in the last 10 years.

The bar association noted that a committee of the group, after an interview with the judges of the magistrate courts in 1955, concluded that their case load at the time could easily be disposed of in a four-hour week day.

Since then, the association reported, the number of magistrate court cases has increased only 21 per cent. There appears to be no reason why this increase could not be handled by a work day of two and four-half hours, it stated.

Insignificant Increase.

If the number of magistrates is reduced from 10 to nine, the present case load would increase from an average of 8½ to 9½ cases a day, the petition asserted. "In view of the fact that the vast majority of magistrate judgments is entered upon default of the defendant, this increase in casce load would be insignificant," it was said.

The bar association said the taxpayers' group both pointed out that the establishment of two additional magistrates would require the appointment of two extra deputy clerks. It would require also the election of two more constables and the employment of four extra deputy constables. The bar association estimated the additional costs in salaries and operating expenses at $60,000 a year.

In the petition asking that the city retain its present 10 magistrate courts, the bar association contended that the 1960 federal census for St. Louis "was inaccurate and inconclusive, and did not reflect the actual population of St. Louis.

They said the city's population has increased since the census was taken and will continue to increase in the future. The administration and needs of justice require that the city have at least 10 magistrate courts, they said.

The circuit court en banc is scheduled to hold a hearing on the original petition Monday at 10 a.m. The petition asking for the extra magistrates was filed by State Senator Sorkis J. Webbe (Dem.). The request was signed by 920 persons, but 186 of the signatures were disapproved by the Election Board on the ground that they were not those of legal city voters.

FIVE PROMINENT LAWYERS NAMED TO AID INDIGENT

Four members of the St. Louis County Council and Orville Richardson, president of the Lawyers Association of St. Louis, were named yesterday to represent indigent defendants in pending criminal court cases. The appointments were made by Circuit Judge Noah Weinstein.

"I want these prominent county attorneys to see first hand the problems our court faces with its crowded docket," Judge Weinstein said. "I want them to see how badly a Bureau of Public Defenders is needed."

Judge Weinstein said the same group of lawyers is seen in his courtroom each day and he feels he cannot repeatedly appoint them to represent defendants without reimbursement. He has asked Chairman Russell A. Grantham of the County Council to work for a public defender law.

Grantham, a Democrat, is one of the four lawyers on the council to be appointed as defense counsel. The others are John J. Dowling (Dem.), Edward E. Murphy Jr. (Rep.), and John Murphy (Rep.).

EX-OFFICER GETS PROBATION IN BOGUS CHECKS CASE

Clem C. Heitert, former part-time Goodfellow Terrace patrolman, was sentenced yesterday by Circuit Judge Noah Weinstein to a year in jail for issuing checks when he had insufficient funds in his bank account, and then was placed on probation for three years.

Heitert, 29 years old, had pleaded guilty to two charges last Oct. 30 and a pre-sentence investigation was ordered by the court. Following his arrest Sept. 13, Heitert admitted to Florissant police he had passed about 75 bogus checks totaling about $1100. His attorney told the court that all of the checks had been made good by the defendant.

TWO ARRESTED AFTER ROBBERY OF OIL STATION

Occupants of Auto Halted on Expressway Admit Holdup on South Broadway.

Two men arrested early today on the Mark Twain Expressway admitted holding up a gasoline station operator in south St. Louis three hours earlier, police announced.

Bobby Farmer, attendant at a Clark Station at 3349 South Broadway, reported at 3:20 o'clock that he had been threatened with a shotgun and robbed of about $16 by two young men who fled in an automobile. He described the men and the automobile.

Shortly after 6 a.m. Patrolmen Vincent O'Connor and Joseph Hoyer saw a car answering the description furnished by Farmer being driven west in Chambers street, near Fourteenth street. The officers followed the car onto the expressway and halted it at North Market street. There was a sawed-off shotgun under the seat.

The occupants readily admitted the holdup, the officers said. They were booked as Billy Gene Cannon, a farmer convict living in the 5000 block of Genevieve avenue, and William R. Holland, a machine operator living at 2000 block of North Tenth street. Robbery warrants will be sought against the men.

Miss Anna Lason, a librarian, suffered a lacerated finger last night when a man jerked her purse from her grasp near her home, 4917 McPherson avenue. Miss Lason said two men accosted her and one grabbed the purse, containing $67.

Miss Rutha Harinett, 3511 Norwood avenue, was robbed of her purse, containing $74, by a man in the 4000 block of Norwood avenue last night.

Thomas Smith, 5017 Washington boulevard, was held up in the 700 block of North Kingshighway last night by two men and robbed of $15. Smith said he was threatened with a revolver and marched into an areaway by the robbers, who stole his wallet.

Christ Bayer, operator of a food shop at 931 South Boyle avenue, was held up yesterday by a young man armed with a revolver. He fled with $63.

FOUND IN SERVICE STATION, CHARGED WITH BURGLARY

A warrant charging second degree burglary was issued yesterday against Hubert W. Sorrells, a clerk, by Magistrate Peter J. Maniscalco at Clayton.

Sorrells, 49 years old, told Baumgartner rood, Mehlville, that he was hiding early yesterday in a service station at 3211 Lemay Ferry road, Lemay, by St. Louis county patrolman Russell Beem. Sorrells, who formerly worked at the station, said at first he had entered the station through an unlocked door when he became frightened at the approach of the police car.

He later admitted he had entered the station with a key belonging to the owner and had emptied an unlocked cash drawer but had hidden the cash in a box when Beem arrived. He said he hid the key also in the station.

ALTON FIRE CHIEF RESIGNS 10 DAYS AFTER TAKING JOB

Fire Chief Richard G. Houren of Alton resigned yesterday as result of a controversy over City Manager Graham W. Watt's action in appointing non-residents to key positions in the city administration.

Houren, who was a fire protection engineer for the Federal government at Washington until he took the Alton job 10 days ago, said he had been subjected to intimidating anonymous letters and telephone calls since coming to Alton. He said he had two offers of other jobs.

Watt, whose removal is being sought by a group of Alton citizens, told reporters that it was a "tragedy" the city could not hold them of Houren's ability. Watt designated Assistant Fire Chiefs Warren Grable and Paul Stilwell to direct the department.

LIQUOR STORE OPERATOR SUFFERS CUTS IN HOLDUP

Delbert B. Burns, operator of a liquor store at 1406 State street, East St. Louis, was cut on the neck and left hand last night when three men held him up in an alley in the rear of the store, he reported to police.

Burns said the three men grabbed him as he was placing liquor in the trunk of his automobile. One held a knife against his throat, he said, and the other two displayed knives.

The robbers took an undetermined amount of currency from Burn's pockets and removed a $270 wrist watch from his arm. They fled on foot, Burns said. Burns, who lives at 156 North Seventy-third street, Centreville, was treated by a private physician.

BANKS, C. OF C. OFFER TO HANDLE LEVEE ISSUE

Would Do at Cost Job for Which East Side Board Proposes to Pay $74,000.

A committee representing seven St. Clair county banks and the East St. Louis Chamber of Commerce will meet next Wednesday with the East Side Levee Board to discuss a new proposal for handling a $1,833,000 bond issue, it was announced today.

Under the proposal, the committee would prepare the necessary ordinances, legal documents, prospectus and bond maturity schedules at cost. Other details, including the receiving of bids on the bond sale, would be handled by the committee.

The unusual step was taken after the Chamber of Commerce and the St. Clair County Tax Payers Association objected to a 4 per cent fee which trustees of the East Side Levee & Sanitary District said they would pay a Chicago fiscal agent. The fee would amount to about $74,000.

Ready to Compare.

Thomas (Skip) Hennessy, one of three trustees who voted to employ Midland Securities, Inc. at the 4 per cent fee, said that he will be glad to compare figures with the committee.

"Speaking as an individual," he said, "I would say that if the committee's plan is cheaper, or is equal to our plan, and fulfills the necessary functions, we'll go along with it. We have relied on our attorneys for advice on how to finance the bond issue."

Hennessy said that an examination of records indicated that the previous levee district administrations had paid more than a 4 per cent fee for handling bond issues.

"I am opposed to committee rule, however," he said. "I am an elected official and if I am not capable I will resign."

The $1,833,290 in general obligation bonds was authorized by the levee board to finance the construction projects for flood and sanitary sewage control.

Voted With Hennessy.

Voting with Hennessy on the fiscal agent proposal were Lawrence Tolar, board president, and John E. Mollis, trustee. George Duff was absent and Dan Costello voted against the proposal.

Tolar and Molla formerly were aligned with the Democratic faction headed by Mayor Alvin G. Fields of East St. Louis. However, after their election last year they switched allegiance to Supervisor Francis Touchette of Centreville. Hennessy was elected with Touchette's support.

Community Progress, Inc., of East St. Louis, will sponsor a meeting next Tuesday at 8 p.m. at First Presbyterian Church, Sixty-ninth and State streets, East St. Louis. Tolar has said he would appear at the meeting to explain the fiscal agent proposal.

GETS 17-YEAR SENTENCE IN SAVINGS FIRM HOLDUP

James Leroy Cochran, former convict, was sentenced yesterday to 17 years in prison for the $1100 robbery of a Roosevelt Savings & Loan Association branch at 2132 East Grand boulevard.

Sentence was Imposed by United States District Judge Roy W. Harper. Cochran was convicted Nov. 8 by a jury in the court of the late Judge Randolph H. Weber. The robbery occurred May 27, 1960.

Cochran, 28 years old, was convicted a year ago of the robbery and sentenced to 20 years in prison by Judge Weber, but the United States Court of Appeals set aside the conviction and ordered a new trial. The appellate court held that Judge Weber erred in denying a defense motion to suppress evidence seized by police when they arrested Cochran in his apartment in the 4000 block of Bulwer avenue.

Pacific Local Makes Last Run; 'Taps' Sounds, Goodbys Are Said

Mo.Pac. Discontinues City's Only Commuter Train, Presents Name Plate to National Museum of Transport.

The last run of commuter train service out of St. Louis was made last night by the Missouri Pacific Railroad's Pacific Local, ending a mode of short-haul transportation that started 103 years ago.

After losing an increasing amount of money for many years, the railroad at last was permitted to leave this field to automobiles and busses.

Everyone aboard as the three-car diesel train pulled out of Union Station at 5:35 p.m. was aware of the milestone of history going past, and some of the passengers were aboard for purely sentimental reasons. Light-hearted and good-humored farewells were said, and one passenger played "taps" over and over with a borrowed bugle.

At Pacific, the end of the line 34 miles to the southwest, the train was run onto a siding and left, with locomotive uncoupled, to be moved in the near future to the railroad's shops in Sedalia, Mo.

In the nearest thing to a ceremony before the departure, the name plate that hung over gates at the station, showing the Local's departure time, was presented by H. E. Mack Jr., Mo.-Pac.'s general passenger traffic manager, to the National Museum of Transport.

At the 19 stops along the way, people gathered with their children to see the commuter train make its last appearance, and a few parents took children aboard for their first train ride.

All but a few passengers had left the train before it reached Pacific, and there was no ceremony at the end of the run. The members of the four-man crew said friendly farewells to each other and went their ways, and that was all.

NARCOTICS SELLER GIVEN 15-YEAR PRISON SENTENCE

Herbert Hoover Grady, of the 2500 block of North Newstead avenue, was sentenced to 15 years in prison yesterday by United States District Judge Roy W. Harper on a narcotics charge.

Grady, 27 years old, had been found guilty by a jury in the court of the late Judge Randolph H. Weber of selling about $50 worth of heroin to a government narcotics agent. He also was found guilty of possessing the drug. He was given concurrent sentences of 15 years on each count.

In 1952 Grady was convicted of selling marijuana and was sentenced to 42 months in prison.

14 DOGS ON PREMISES BRING FINE FOR OFFENSIVE ODORS

Robert L. Lumma, 8963 Concord place, was found guilty yesterday of permitting offensive odors on his premises after hearing received notice from the city health commissioner to correct the condition. Lumma was fined $100 by Judge David W. FitzGibbon of the Court of Criminal Correction.

City inspectors testified that they had inspected Lumma's premises last Oct. 18 and found 14 dogs there that were causing offensive odors. Lumma pleaded not guilty.

Castro's Son in East Berlin.

BERLIN, Dec. 16 (AP)—The 17-year-old son of Fidel Castro is visiting Berlin, the official Communist East German news agency, ADN, said yesterday. ADN said young Castro is among five members of the Cuban "Young Rebels" youth group which is touring Communist countries.

L. CHARTRAND STRICKEN FATALLY, CITY ELECTRICIAN

Lester Lawrence Chartrand, a city electrician, collapsed yesterday at City Hall, apparently from a heart attack, and died a short time later at City Hospital.

Chartrand, employed as a telephone electrician in the fire and police telephone and telegraph section of the Department of Public Safety, had left his headquarters on an assignment and had returned briefly to the electrical parts shop in the basement where the attack occurred.

Except for eight years between 1933 and 1941 and three years of service in World War II, he had been employed by the city since 1926. He was 61 years old and lived at 4766 Plover avenue.

WEATHER CAUSES INCREASE IN INITIAL JOBLESS CLAIMS

Severe weather caused layoffs of outdoor workers and accounted for an increase in initial claims for unemployment insurance in St. Louis and St. Louis county this week, the Division of Employment Security announced yesterday.

A total of 4225 initial claims were filed, compared with 2997 the previous week and 4586 in the corresponding week of 1960. Continued claims totaled 15,271, which is 982 more than the previous week and 1017 less than the corresponding week last year.

A spokesman for the Division of Employment Security said there also were some seasonal layoffs. These occurred in the soft drink, brewery and Christmas card industries, he said.

Will to Survive

Concerning your editorial, "The Shelter Illusion," I am sorry to see your paper contributing to the defeatist attitude so rampant today.

It appears, from studies I have recently made, that Russian targets would have to be military, for some time to come, even though we may have greatly underestimated Russia's nuclear capability.

The studies were based on 50 of our largest cities. If the total area in square miles of these cities is taken and then divided by the known area of destruction of the H-bomb, the number of bombs required to destroy them runs into the thousands. This is counting only blast and heat damage. The fallout comes later. In either case, even the most simple shelter would save countless lives.

You state that people who come out would have nothing to come out to. This is conjecture and is disputed by many scientists.

You also say that organized society cannot survive a nuclear war. Again this is pure conjecture. So what if society is disorganized for several weeks? Many segments of our society have been in this state, off and on, for a period of years.

The situation in the United States today is very much like a doctor with a very sick patient, who can survive only if he has the will to survive. We can survive, in great numbers, if we will take a few simple precautions. We can survive and must survive to carry on our civilization and to fight off invaders if necessary. The nations with the most survivors, who are willing to fight, will win.

Cause For Complaint

Memo to those complaining reservists now on active duty:

"Christmas, 6 p.m: . . . It is fearfully cold and raw. . . . The wind is northeast and beats in the faces. . . . It will be a terrible night for the soldiers who have no shoes . . . but have not heard a man complain. . . . They are ready to suffer any handicap and die rather than give up their liberty." . . .

So wrote a staff officer of Gen. George Washington on Christmas 1776. Ray Naughton

Rebuttal From Kirkwood

Each of the "Answers From Kirkwood" letters appearing in your columns last week contained a key reference to the real problem existing in Kirkwood without, I'm certain, the volition of the letter-writer.

Reader Evans professes his senior-citizenship in Kirkwood and alludes to ". . . going back only 25 or 30 years" in support of his name-calling attack on our present administration. His "25 or 30 years" has meant: Trebling the number of children in schools and the cost of educating them; multiplying the traffic-count on Kirkwood road by 10; visible decay of buildings (both residential and commercial), neighborhoods (including the one I live in), streets, and the crowding of parks and municipal buildings!

But his cognomen "miracle-men" is applied to our present council and mayor was, in my view, adroit and to the point because, bearing witness from my 11-year-old residence in Kirkwood, it will take something of a miracle to offset the negativism and bitter ending that is so powerfully evident here.

The second reader, Mrs. Howe, questions your comments on factionalism which impels me to remind her that two recent leaders of factions in our contemporary world are named Castro and Hitler both of whom have documented the truth of the political axiom that "saying something often enough, over and over again, gives it the substance of truth."

Notwithstanding Mrs. Howe's allusion to the idea that the "people have spoken" for ". . . their wishes to remain substantially a single-family community" no such mandate was uttered by the voters. The election results indicated that a confused electorate spoke to the issues on the basis of self interest.

A minority of the voters asked: "What will be good for Kirkwood?"

A Magistrate's Suggestion

Your article on traffic courts of Dec. 3 was a sweeping indictment of all traffic courts.

The public receives just what it wants in the way of traffic court justice.

I suggest that our citizens take an interest in our courts and visit them as guests and not as violators.

No Place to Go?

Now that the Missouri Board of Education is considering a plan for a St. Louis area junior college, it is time for the city and state to consider the role of such institutions in modern education.

The Missouri Legislature recognized the growing need for two-year colleges when it approved legislation allowing school districts to combine to create them, and providing state aid for them. Missouri has seven such colleges now; it probably will gain two to four more under the new legislation. And yet Missouri has lagged behind the national trend toward junior colleges as it has lagged in emphasis on higher education generally.

Public junior college programs developed in Utah, Illinois and California near the turn of the century, and spread elsewhere after World War I. But it was World War II, which deposited throngs of would-be students armed with GI benefits on the country, that greatly spurred the movement. Now it is the "war baby" generation that has created a new demand for post-high school education. In Missouri, for example, colleges can expect a threefold increase in student population by 1970, and they are not equipped to meet it.

As a result of these pressures, 33 other states are turning increasingly to junior colleges, and have established more than 400 of them. Illinois already has 16, Kansas and Oklahoma 14 each. The leading states in this respect are California with 67 and two more authorized (integrated into a system of seven state university campuses and 13 state colleges), Texas with 32, Florida with 24 and New York with 18 and three more projected.

Junior colleges range in size from California's Long Beach institution with an enrollment of 7000 to some with as few as 100 students. They vary in purpose also: most provide the first two years of a four-year college course, but some add vocational training for students who do not intend to go to college, and some provide for adult education.

All, however, are based on the assumption that the junior college method of extending higher educational facilities is cheaper for the public and cheaper for the student. It is often less expensive to create small localized colleges than to extend the much-extended facilities of big universities. It is often less expensive to take education to the student than to try to move the student to a distant place for his education.

Unfortunately, the notion has developed that junior colleges necessarily also mean cheapened education. The California system proves that this is not necessarily true, and Missouri's new law is being carefully administered to make sure that communities that cannot afford such colleges are not encouraged to build them. For St. Louis and St. Louis county, with a combined tax base of more than three billion dollars, financial support is no problem. But it remains for this area to accept a junior college district in an eventual referendum, and then to insist that it provide for educational excellence.

"Properly located, junior colleges would enable many of our citizens to attend college who otherwise would lack opportunity for higher education." These words of Gov. Dalton fully express the challenge facing Missouri and metropolitan St. Louis particularly. If this area does not create an adequate junior college, hundreds of young people who deserve further education will have no place to go.

Declining Union Membership

A mixed picture of the strength of the American labor movement is given by a recent report of the Department of Labor. Total union membership in 1960 was 17,049,000, a decline of 68,000 from 1959. One fourth of the total labor force and about one-third of employes in non-farm work were members of labor unions. These ratios have remained fairly constant since the end of World War II but union membership has not kept pace with the growth of the work force. In 1953, union members in non-farm jobs accounted for 34.1 per cent of the work force; this percentage dropped to 32.1 per cent in 1960.

Sol Barkin, research director of the Textile Workers of America, in a study for an agency of the Fund for the Republic, attributes the halt of growth of union membership in the last decade to the prevalent attitude of Government and the public in favor of limiting trade union power.

A program to reverse the decline of unions proposed by Mr. Barkin includes revival of the basic purpose of unions of making the free enterprise society function more equitably and humanely and efforts by labor to assure the growth of the national economy.

Labor's cause would also be served by a continued drive on racketeers in unions; abolition of union raiding and costly jurisdictional disputes, and even further attention to automation and the changing competitive position of American business in world trade. A co-operative effort by business, labor, and Government is in the national interest.

Bad Year for Air Lines

A few minutes after Continental Airlines and National Airlines disclosed a plan to merge, the Air Transport Association reported that operations of the nation's 11 domestic carriers would show a $30,000,000 loss for the year. Although six or seven of the 11 trunk lines probably will show slim profits, losses of the others will wipe them out. What the air lines desperately need is a way to tap the great potential that lies in the many millions of persons who have never traveled in airliners.

There are now about 570 jet and turboprop airliners flying, almost a third of the total fleet of the scheduled air lines. As jets began to appear three years ago, it was expected that their additional seating capacity and higher speed would pay off handsomely. But the normal increase in passengers, which ranged from 12 to 22 per cent annually, did not continue. A recent study by the University of Michigan Research Center has shown only 29 per cent of the adult population in this country has ever flown in commercial craft. Only 9 per cent of the adult population used them in a one-year period.

The ATA believes that removing the 10 per cent federal transportation tax would help and also wants to get more of government business now handled by the Military Air Transport Service. The Civil Aeronautics Board, which is charged with the economic welfare of the carriers, suggested after the United-Capitol merger of several months ago that mergers may be a major part of the panacea the lines seek. Certainly the duplication of routes is an industry plague. Labor costs, for example the union requirement on some lines for three pilots in a cockpit, also are a factor.

It is certain that the answer does not lie in faster planes with greater seating capacity. It may, perhaps, lie in a combination of the several proposals that have been made.

The Arab Refugees

The "fair chance" for progress on the Palestine Arab refugee problem, which the United States is asking on behalf of a United Nations mission, is certainly a moderate enough request. That the mission headed by the president of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, Dr. Joseph E. Johnson, feels it has made a hopeful beginning is reason enough for patient continuances.

Yet moderation is perhaps the very quality that handicaps the appeal. Intransigence of the most emotional sort is still the order of the day on both the Arab and the Israeli sides of the question. Recently it has been aggravated by charges of the Saudi Arabian delegate to the U.N., Ahmed Shukairy, that Dr. Johnson and the United States Government are biased in favor of Israel.

These tactics only deepen the difficulties of a settlement. Any improvement in the climate of the negotiations, however slight, could be of inestimable benefit toward reconciliation, for the climate is even more of a problem than the problem itself.

For the sake of the future of the Arab states and Israel, as well as of peace in the Middle East and perhaps the world, the refugee problem cannot be allowed to drift. The more than 840,000 Arabs who fled their homes in Palestine 13 years ago when the state of Israel came into existence, and set up camps across the borders, have increased to an estimated 1,150,000 and the refugee population is growing by 25,000 yearly.

They constitute a continuing threat to the Arab-Israeli truce, a source of chauvinistic power for Arab demagogues, a spur to an arms race that is draining both sides, a barrier to the development of Middle Eastern resources, and a block to further moves toward a general reconciliation of differences.

National false pride has, on both sides, so far deterred either from budging an inch. Since obviously a few inches will have to be budged on both accounts in order to permit any practical settlement, the smallest accessions to reasonableness must be viewed with hope. Perhaps they may prove habit-forming.

Grandma Moses, Artist

Just how much an original Grandma Moses, properly certified by experts, will bring at an auction 500 years from now is beyond the revelatory power of our crystal. And it has about as much to do with the quality of her paintings as her age or the knowledge that she never took a lesson. And to talk of the pictures as "folk" art may imply a sneer as easily as a bow of approval.

Quite simply, her oils—enthusiastically depicting farm work, a train crossing a bridge, or children at play—are good because they are perceptive. Grandma Moses saw much and loved what she saw. Her pictures help others to see and to love what they see. No doubt that is why in a world so complicated that it cries for abstractions, her work is acclaimed by those who never dreamed of painting as she painted. After all, her simplifications are abstractions of a sort. There is less difference between the primitive and the modern than some profess to see.

Of course, there are those who say of both styles that they are mere child's play. In a way they do not understand, they may be right; their eyes are not as open as a child's eyes. Art is not without standards, yet they embrace expression in many forms—but only if it is sincere and beautiful.

Castro Defies Truth

The U.N. General Assembly's trusteeship committee in recent days has been treated to sniping against the United States by Puerto Rican nationalists now representing Cuba. Fidel Castro made a Cuban citizen of Laura Menese de Albizu Campos, Peruvian-born wife of Pedro Albizu Campos, a nationalist leader jailed for advocating overthrow of the United States Government. Mrs. Albizu Campos and another Puerto Rican refugee have, for Castro's benefit, repeatedly accused the United States of oppressing the people of Puerto Rico and refusing to grant them independence.

This is for Castro's benefit, not for Puerto Rico's, because the people of that Commonwealth have thoroughly rejected the idea of independence. In the last election, only 3 per cent of the voters supported the Independence ticket, and the party lost its place on the ballot under the Commonwealth election law. The dominant party supports Commonwealth status and the other major party backs outright statehood. If the Puerto Ricans, who are American citizens, actually wanted freedom, however, the United States undoubtedly would accede to their wishes.

Castro is misusing the Puerto Rican issue for its propaganda effect on Latin America. But the establishment of a free Commonwealth, with freedom of choice, is the best answer to the lie.

The Nation and the States

It would have been easier to agree with Gen. Eisenhower had he told the Michigan constitutional convention that the states should assume greater responsibility, instead of urging them to claim more power.

Undoubtedly mutual responsiveness between the federal government and communities—and even individuals—is growing. But this is not so much the result of a craving for power in Washington as it is an outgrowth of the state governments' neglect of large portions of their citizenry.

City people are keenly aware of their under-representation, and of the difficulty of getting help from the state capital even though they pay most of the taxes. Washington, on the other hand, usually is helpful.

Gen. Eisenhower saw causes more clearly than effects when he said: "Every state failure to meet a present public need has created the opportunity, developed the excuse and fed the temptation for the national Government to poach on the state's preserves." He should have added that state failures made federal action necessary.

Beyond this is the deeper fact that the United States long ago grew from a rather loose federation into an integrated nation. That is why we are able to do great things in the world and at home, too.

A Park for the Prairies, Too

National Park Service and Kansas Propose to Preserve Grasslands for Future

Ben Hibbs, Editor, in
The Saturday Evening Post

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Less than a century ago the prairie country which lies between the wooded hills of Eastern Kansas and the sagebrush plains of Eastern Colorado was a vast grassland, wild and beautiful in its own stark way.

As the traveler left the valley of the Kaw and rode westward along the wagon trails where so much history was made, he came soon to the uplift of the prairies and then to the tall grass of the Flint Hills, a low range extending north and south through Kansas. And beyond this were the rolling plains, where the low-growing mat of buffalo grass stretched endlessly away to the west. Herds of buffalo and elk and antelope roamed these prairies. Fresh, clean winds blew across the grasslands, and overhead was the limitless blue dome of heaven.

After the Civil War the surge of settlement lapped out into the prairies, and within two short generations the grasslands, as the explorers and the wagon-train "emigrants" had known them, were largely gone. Wheat fields and barbed-wire fences, railroads and towns and highways had come. Cattle had replaced the wild ruminants. Today some native prairie remains, tamed and fenced and often overgrazed, but except for a few scattered areas the exciting and lonely sweep of the great grass country is gone.

For a long time some of us who grew up on these prairies and learned to love them, as other men love the mountains and the forests and the sea, have yearned for the day when some remnant of the immense grasslands of the West would be set aside in a national park, so that this generation and the generations to come could see what they once were. And now at last a movement to do just that has been started.

Two bills, backed by the National Park Service, have been introduced in the United States Senate and the House of Representatives, to establish what would be called the Prairie National Park in a 57,000-acre area of the Flint Hills in Northern Kansas.

The Flint Hills country is a lovely region of grassy green hills, rolling away to the horizon. Low, rocky escarpments break the flow of the grassland here and there. Little wooded streams run clear and fresh down the gentle valleys. Because of the nutritious grasses and an underlayer of limestone near the surface, which has discouraged the plowman, the Flint Hills have always been used largely for grazing.

During the past 15 years the National Park Service has been investigating possible sites for a prairie park. Areas in ten states have been surveyed and ranked as to suitability, and in the final report the three sites which top the list are all in the Kansas Flint Hills. The first choice—the area now designated in the two bills in Congress—is a region in the southern part of Pottawatomie county, which lies just northeast of the town of Manhattan. The site covers an area extending approximately 13 miles north and south and seven miles east and west. It is bounded on the west by the new Tuttle Creek reservoir, which probably will become a state recreation area. Good transcontinental highways run close by. The old Oregon Trail of history passed within a few miles of the northeastern boundary of the proposed park. Eventually there would be a herd of several thousand bison. There would be elk and antelope and deer in large numbers. The birds, which have never left, would be there in even greater numbers, and the park would be a paradise for ornithologists.

The land in the designated area is now held by some 200 private owners, and it undoubtedly would take some doing to acquire title to all these parcels of hill and prairie. Historically the Federal Government does not take the initiative in the establishment of a new national park. It waits until interested citizens have assembled at least half the land area in question and have indicated their willingness to donate it to the Government for a park. At that point, if the project has been approved, the gift is accepted and the Park Service proceeds with development work and the acquisition of the remaining areas.

Obviously what is needed now is an angel, or several angels—men with money who possess also a love of the prairies and a determination to see that Prairie National Park becomes a reality.

Moreover, time is running out. Some years ago a bill was introduced in the Legislature of Illinois to find within that state a tall-grass area and preserve it forever as a state park. The bill was actually passed by the lower house before it was discovered that no large area of virgin grassland remained in Illinois.

Prairie National Park would be something different. Except for the facilities to house and handle visitors, it would be quite unlike any of the other national parks. We need it to help us save and remember the panorama of the Old West. The synthetic cowboys of television are not enough.

Radiant, Fragile and Full of Life From the New York Herald Tribune

The first snow is rarely the first snowfall. Early December sees all kinds of sleety storms which deposit their soft gray butter for a moment on the warm earth. Or if the ground has hardened, they leave no more than a scar of dirty white on the tawny pasture ridges and roadsides.

The first snow is that blanket of purity swelling one diamond to the size of a landscape. Its fragile surface, for it is very fragile, is tufted with dry seed pods and striped with the blue shadows of bare branches. Beyond the stone wall it parts for a black brook, risen like a spring from the Underworld and returning thence a few yards on. The stillness and the radiance are immemorial experiences for the human eye, and it is not hard to sense within oneself all the mystery and magic both time and oracle have bestowed upon them.

But that is only one world. Snow may mean sleep to some, but to a thousand forms of life it means awakening to a new series of opportunities and "challenges," in the vogue term. The birds that have been driven down from the north are heedlessly busy staying alive. So are the small mammals that tunnel and nest under the snow, and the larger ones that feed on them. There is even a wingless, snow-breeding fly.

Hunters and trappers know all about this life. They can read the snow's surface. Crows alighted here. A mink came down to the water there. A fox pursued a rabbit into that thicket. A pair of deer were surprised in an adjacent meadow by—a dog? There are dog tracks, but they seem to bear no relation to the movements of the deer. Perhaps the deer were downwind and fled before the dog saw them.

And what, for that matter, would a superior intelligence deduce from the pattern of one's own big, rubber-printed tracks running aimlessly over field and through wood all one afternoon?

Between Book Ends A Welcome Relief

THE VICTORIANS, by Sir Charles Petrie. (Longmans, 270 pgs., $6.75.)

In 1897, four years before Queen Victoria's death, Sir Walter Besant wrote an article for the Diamond Jubilee issue of the Illustrated London News summing up the progress that had taken place during her reign. "In 1837," he wrote, "the Queen could not possibly have reached Aberdeen on her way to Balmoral under 45 hours; today she could cover the 540 miles in 12 hours, the quickest long-distance journey in the world."

Now her great-granddaughter can—and has—flown to Africa in less time than that, and the social changes match the technological changes.

In this book Sir Charles Petrie, a British historian, examines the changes in British institutions that occurred in the reign of Victoria, who as a child had known the men of the Regency and the Europe of Metternich and who lived to see Winston Churchill become a member of Parliament.

His brief study is scholarly and well-documented but is spiced with gossip and wit and wry observations. For example in the dreary chapter on the dreary topic of "Victorian Women," he comments on the sad plight of governesses, who were required to be well-educated gentlewomen, yet were snubbed by the women who employed them. "The lecherous advances of the male members of the household which governesses often had to undergo," Sir Charles remarks, "must have come to many as a welcome relief."

SAINTS IN ACTION, by William Thomas Walsh. (Hanover House, 358 pgs., $4.95.)

Not every saint is sufficiently well known to merit a whole book to himself. Not all of us can keep up our interest on one for a full 400 pages. So this book, which gives us long-short biographies of eight favorites, is welcome, especially as being the last work from the pen of Dr. Walsh. Of the eight perhaps the most readable are those on Saints Peter, Athanasius, Gregory, Benedict and Patrick.

News of the Churches in the St. Louis Area

REOPENING OF CHRIST CHURCH CATHEDRAL

By JOHN T. STEWART
Church Editor of the Post-Dispatch

Christ Church Cathedral, Thirteenth and Locust streets, will be reopened for all services tomorrow. It has been closed since last May 28 for repairs and redecoration.

Services tomorrow will be held at 8, 9 and 11 a. m. and 5:30 p. m.

For more than six months, five Sunday services—four in the morning and one in the afternoon—have been held in the chapel, which had been completely restored and refurbished before work on the cathedral was started. More than $250,000 has been spent on the cathedral properties, seat of the Missouri Diocese of the Episcopal Church.

Dean Ned Cole, explaining what has been done to the cathedral interior, said, "Most of the time was taken in repairing the things that are not seen."

The old ceiling was removed and a new solid ceiling installed, also insulated. This was done to make the cathedral easier to heat and keep clean and to provide a solid ceiling surface for sound reverberation, Dean Cole stated.

Wooden truss bearings were reinforced with steel trusses. Ridge beams were reinforced with steel bridge work and trusses. Light fixtures were rewired and additional fixtures added. New lighting was provided for the reredos.

When the old ceiling was washed, it was discovered that the original color was blue and this color was used as the guide for a new ceiling.

All walls were washed and upper parts of the walls were sealed to improve the acoustics. Other improvements included new carpets under the pews and in the choir stalls.

"Upon returning into the cathedral, one is struck by its lightness and brightness," Dean Cole said.

Christ Church Cathedral was organized in 1819. The present site was purchased in 1859. The cornerstone was laid in 1860 and the building was completed in 1867, after the interruption of the Civil War.

Associate

THE REV. H. THEODORE HINN, who is the new associate minister of Normandy Presbyterian Church. He had been pastor of Brandt Memorial Church, St. Louis, since 1954. The Rev. Dr. Grant O. Jennings is minister of Normandy Church.

CABANNE ANNIVERSARY

Bishop Eugene M. Frank will be guest preacher at Cabanne Methodist Church, Goodfellow boulevard and Bartmer avenue, tomorrow at 10:40 a.m. The service will mark the sixty-fifth anniversary of the church. The Rev. Dr. Joseph W. Thompson is the pastor.

In Sunday's Post-Dispatch, the date of the anniversary service was erroneously given as that day, Dec. 10.

CHRISTMAS FESTIVAL SERVICES TOMORROW

Because Christmas eve falls on a Sunday, many churches will hold their festival services of Christmas music and pageantry tomorrow. The music will include Advent hymns, carols, cantatas, and anthems old and new.

Third Baptist Church, Grand and Washington boulevards, will present its music program at 7 p.m. tomorrow. The three choirs of the church will be under the direction of Miss Katherine Carmichael.

Grace Methodist Church.

Grace Methodist Church, Skinker and Waterman boulevards, will hold a candlelight carol service at 4 p.m. Four choirs, including the Epworth Bell Choir, will take part. The program will include hymns and carols from Moravia, England, Germany and France. The Christmas story will be read by the minister, the Rev. Dr. Wesley H. Hager. Douglas Breitmayer is minister of music.

Ladue Chapel.

Ladue Chapel, 9450 Clayton road, will have white gift Christmas family vespers at 5 p.m. The service will include a dramatic presentation, "Why the Chimes Rang."

Trinity Presbyterian Church.

Excerpts from the Christmas part of Handel's "Messiah" will be sung at Trinity Presbyterian Church, 6800 Washington avenue, University City, at 4:30 p.m. The service will also include the singing of carols.

Central Presbyterian Church.

Central Presbyterian Church, Hanley road and Davis Drive, Clayton, will present a dramatized cantata, "Bethlehem," by J. H. Maunder, at 5 p.m. The program will be under the direction of Mrs. Doyne C. Neal.

Second Presbyterian.

"Nine Lessons and Carols," a traditional service of alternate Bible readings and carols, will be presented at Second Presbyterian Church, 4501 Westminster place, tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. The service is a narrative of the coming of Christ, beginning with prophecy and closing with the Gospel account. At Second Church, the first eight lessons will be read by lay readers, representing various groups in the congregation. The closing lesson will be read by the minister, the Rev. Dr. W. Sherman Skinner. The service will be directed by Charles H. Heaton, minister of music.

Delmar Baptist Church.

The choir of Delmar Baptist Church, Washington and Skinker boulevards, assisted by members of the St. Louis Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra, will present the Christmas portion of Handel's "Messiah" at 7:30 p.m. Douglas C. Schlueter will be the organist and director.

Webster Hills Methodist.

Webster Hills Methodist Church, Lockwood avenue and Berry road, will hold its annual candlelight musical vesper service at 4:30 p.m. This year the singing choirs will be joined for the first time by the newly formed handbell choir of the church. The choirs and congregation will join in singing Christmas hymns and carols.

Memorial Boulevard Christian.

A Christmas program in pantomime, with readings from the Bible, will be presented at Memorial Boulevard Christian Church, North Kingshighway and Labadie avenue, at 8 p.m. The junior choir, chancel choir and men's chorus will sing.

Tower Grove Baptist Church.

Some 200 children will present a musical program, "Around the World in Christmas Carols," at Tower Grove Baptist Church, Tower Grove and Magnolia avenues, Wednesday at 8 p.m.

FLORISSANT CHURCH TO HAVE MASS STUDY

St. Ferdinand Catholic Church, Florissant, this week announced plans for its second Study the Mass program. It will be held on consecutive Sundays, Jan. 14 and 21, the Rev. John R. Phelan, pastor, announced.

A total of 443 parishioners took part in the program last year.

Parish laymen are organizing and carrying out the program, in line with directives issued by Cardinal Joseph E. Ritter.

The program is under the direction of Ray Tiefenbrun and Mrs. Irene Hartman. The same program will be given both Sundays, with participants divided into three workshops, followed by question and answer periods.

A demonstration of the Mass by Father Phelan will conclude the program. A commentator will explain the vestments and articles used in the Mass. The celebrant will face the congregation to show the movements of the priest during Mass.

"Since the Mass is the center of Catholic worship, the layman as a member of the Body of Christ, has the responsibility to study and understand it," Tiefenbrun said. "Interested non-Catholics are invited to attend, as some did last year."

KIWANIS CLUB'S CHURCHMAN OF YEAR IS NAMED

Lee Schnure, Protestant lay leader who has done about everything a layman can do around a church—from singing in the choir to raising the annual budget—was named "Churchman of the Year" by the Downtown Kiwanis Club this week.

The presentation ceremony was held at the weekly meeting of the club, and was conducted by Charles E. Frame, chairman of the Kiwanis Aid to Churches Committee.

Schnure, a member of Ladue Chapel, is a former treasurer of the Metropolitan Church Federation, a member of its executive board, and currently is finance chairman of the Missouri Council of Churches. He is a graduate of Washington University, and partner in a public accountants house.

He is a charter member of Ladue Chapel, a Presbyterian church organized 17 years ago. He has served as a member of the board of deacons, as elder, and as clerk of the Session. He was treasurer of the church board of trustees for five years, and its president one year.

New Pastor

THE REV. HAP LYDA, who was installed Sunday as pastor of Northside Christian Church, 9635 Highway 67. He had been associate minister of First Christian Church, Corpus Christi, Tex. At Northside Church he succeeded the Rev. Sam S. Langley, who resigned to accept a pastorate at Memphis, Tenn.

BIBLE RANKS AT TOP IN GIVING FOR CHRISTMAS

NEW YROK, Dec. 16 (UPI)—The Bible still is the No. 1 gift book for Christmas.

Outselling all other books it is available in enough versions and editions to suit almost any taste in scripture reading.

It comes in enough prices to satisfy every pocketbook. The American Bible Society offers a complete Bible for as little as 90 cents. A New Testament costs only 18 cents, and the Gospels a mere 3 cents, less than it costs to mail a Christmas card.

For the Bible reader with everything, there is a $750 two-volume facsimile edition of the Gutenberg Bible, published in New York.

Door-to-door salesmen are do a big business in family Bibles priced at $40 and up.

Hawks Move to Boston After 12-Point Victory Over Knicks

Hagan Hot With 31 in Cold Arena

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch

BOSTON, Dec. 16—Fuzzy Levane's basketball Hawks, with a victory over the New York Knickerbockers in a cold Chicago Amphitheater under their belts, move into the lion's den here tonight to oppose the hot Boston Celtics.

While the Hawks still are reeling in fourth place in the Western standings of the National Basketball Association, the champion Celtics have won 21 of their first 24 games and are runaway leaders in the East.

St. Louis is 11-18 and 11 games from the Western lead after last night's 120-108 decision in Chicago, where the temperature in the building was 50 degrees and caused grumbling by the players. Someone apparently forgot to turn on the heat until 5 o'clock two hours before game time.

Warmest of all the Hawks was Cliff Hagan, who drove in and out of New York defenses to score 31 points, high for both teams.

Knicks Miss Guerin.

The Hawks, who earlier in the week lost two games on the West Coast to the Los Angeles Lakers, welcomed the respite against the Knicks, who played without the services of their No. 1 scorer, Richie Guerin, sidelined with an ankle injury.

St. Louis, with Bob Pettit and Hagan hitting at close range, moved to a 15-point lead at the end of the first period, 37 to 22. Although using replacements most of the second quarter, the Hawks carried a 65-to-55 lead into the second half.

The Knicks, with Al Butler and Willie Naulls dominating the backboards, moved back into the game as the third quarter ended with the score 89 to 83. New York once had closed the gap to 84 to 83.

Hagan hit three quick baskets to open the fourth quarter and the Hawks took advantage to regain a 10-point edge.

"We're still not playing together," Coach Levane said, after the game. "But things have got to get better. It wasn't a true test of basketball tonight because of the conditions. Both teams were cold and the Knicks played without Guerin."

Backcourt Problem.

As usual, the backcourt was the chief problem for the Hawks. Vern Hatton, former Chicago Packer, was the only threat as he hit 18 points.

Bob Sims, recent acquisition from the Lakers, had four shots from the floor but failed to connect.

Both games were played without the customary 24-second clocks as officials announced a rheostat had burned out. This only led to harried shooting when the usual dull voice announced that there were only 10 seconds to shoot.

In the second game, the Chicago Packers scored their sixth victory of the season by beating Los Angeles, western division leaders, 97 to 94. Elgin Baylor played less than half the contest before going out on personal fouls.

Wildcat Tricks an Eagle

JACK CLARK (21) of Eureka High's Wildcats and DAN BENDER of the Brentwood Eagles maneuver under basket during the South County game at Brentwood. Clark was highly successful at this type of faking. Bender picked up four fouls against Clark in the first half. Brentwood's MIKE PRATT (44) and JIM TORBERT (30) watch the proceedings as does Eureka's LARRY STEWARD (45). Eureka ran its unbeaten record to seven games with a 51-40 triumph.

Hazelwood, Webster And Maplewood Win

By Bob Posen

Berkeley High's gymnasium was slow to warm up last night and so were both basketball teams as Hazelwood defeated the home quintet, 47-31.

Because of trouble with the heating system in the gym, the B-team game got under way in a chilly manner, but by the time the varsities started the temperature seemed near normal. Neither team, however, did much thawing until the fourth period, when Hazelwood outscored the Bulldogs 17-12.

By contrast, the North County teams were torrid at Kinloch, where Pattonville won, 87-66, with Terry Teter scoring 29. Jennings also started fast in the league, 68-61, over Fairview with John Wilson scoring 31.

Webster Groves, only member of the Suburban Big Ten that is undefeated over-all, opened its conference play with a 70-40 rout of St. Charles. Pacing the Statesmen was John Martz with 31 points.

Once-beaten Maplewood rolled to its sixth victory, 73-49, over Ritenour, and University City topped Riverview Gardens, 65-41. Kirkwood, last year's league champion, came from behind in the second half to down Ferguson, 65-52, and Ladue slipped by Normandy, 56-50.

Hazelwood's squad was accompanied to Berkeley by more fans than the home team mustered—an indication, Coach Bob Rayon said— of how hard influenza had struck Berkeley. Almost one-third of the students had been absent from school, he said, and his baseketball team had not escaped. No more than six players had been at any one practice during the week.

The weakened Bulldogs couldn't dent Hazelwood's zone defense and quickly fell behind, 7-1, as Hobie Miller scored the Hawks' first five points and Dennis Musgraves added two more. Berkeley twice drew within three points but couldn't pull even with the more experienced visitors.

Hazelwood's all-senior starting five played without substitution for almost 22 minutes, and had the situation safely in command when Coach Roy Tanner began clearing his bench. Berkeley's starters included four juniors and senior Claude Franke, the highest of the low-scoring Bulldogs with eight points. The game's only scorer in double figures was Miller with 15.

Haden on TKO

WORCESTER, Mass., Dec. 16 (UPI)—New England featherweight boxing champion Tommy Haden, 125, New Bedford, scored a technical knockout over Bobby Harmon, 123, Baltimore, Md., last night in the third round of a scheduled 10-round bout at Mechanics' Hall.

Eureka Chokes Off Brentwood Rallies, Runs Streak to 7

By Bob Ruhl

The chill in the weather outside had nothing on Brentwood High's basketball team last night. Eureka's Wildcats froze out the Eagles without a field goal for almost 12 minutes and then put the Brentwood offense on ice again when it counted most—in the final moments.

Eureka, winning a 51-49 thriller in the South County League opener for both teams, thus battled its way to its seventh victory in an unbeaten early season. "It must be the first time this has ever happened at the school," said the happy Wildcat coach, George Parker.

Sharing the South County spotlight with Eureka was Affton, which handed Lindbergh its fourth loss in a row, 56-47. In the top game of the Catholic Athletic Conference, DuBourg thumped Mercy, 56-36.

30 Points for Dwyer.

Chuck Dwyer scored 30 points as St. Thomas Aquinas won a non-league game from Western Military Academy, 56-51. Missouri state champion St. Louis U. High showed a balanced attack in whipping St. Mary's 53-39. Corpus Christi edged Country Day, 52-50.

Richard Hemphill, a 6-foot-2 forward, scored 35 points to lead Hillsboro over Herculaneum, 74-70, in the Jefferson County Conference.

The Eureka team, primarily the same as the one that had a 5-15 mark last season, was battered by Brentwood in the early going as the Eagles built up a 16-6 lead.

But the Wildcats didn't rattle and gradually the defense took over. For the final minute of the first quarter, through the entire eight-minute second period and nearly three minutes into the third quarter, Brentwood was without a field goal. Eureka's zone defense kept the Eagles shooting from the outside and taking poor shots.

Brentwood, on the strength of seven free tosses, held a 24-22 lead at the half, but Eureka was ahead, 34-32, after three periods.

Two Late Eagle Surges.

Brentwood, tabbed as the preseason choice for the league title, rallied late in the final period. A string of six straight points, a free throw each by Mike Pratt and Bob Farrington and baskets by Jim Torbert and Pratt, gave the Eagles a 45-44 advantage with 3:30 left.

But Eureka's Larry Benson, Ray Davis and Jack Clark poured in lay-ups for a 50-45 lead with 2:05 left on the clock. Again Brentwood came back. Pratt's two foul shots and Farrington's long jumper with 17 seconds remaining brought the Eagles to within one point. But that was as far as they got.

Davis, who did a neat job of holding Brentwood's top gun, Torbert, to 11 points, finished the scoring with a free throw.

Eureka's Jack Clark, a 6-3 lanky junior, was the top scorer with 18 points. But his scoring was almost secondary. Brentwood's brawny Dan Bender gathered up four fouls in the first half trying to stop Clark, and Torbert got tagged with three quick ones in the third period to give him a total of four with a full quarter to go.

"I think you have to give some credit to our defense," said Parker afterward in sincere understatement.

Bills Plan New Front For Iowa

By Ed Wilks

The St. Louis University Billikens, who have had trouble getting their offense into gear, shift to a new lineup against Iowa at Kiel Auditorium tonight in a game that opens a rugged week in their basketball schedule.

After four games — and with five ahead in eight days—the Bills are 2-2 and coach John Benington is right where he started as far as naming a starting five is concerned. He's undecided.

The only player sure of a starting job at the 8:30 tip-off against the Hawkeyes is Garry Garrison, the 6-foot-8 sophomore at center who has enjoyed that singular guarantee since the season opened.

Tommy Kieffer, whom Benington considered moving from forward to guard in mid-week, now may be out of the starting lineup for the first time. That would leave the guard chores to Dave Harris and George Latinovich, with Donnell Reid taking over Kieffer's forward position opposite Bill Nordmann.

The alternative, as Benington sees it, would be to start Kieffer at guard instead of Harris. Latinovich, the Bills' leading scorer (13.5) stays put, unless he is hampered too much by a hip injury suffered in practice.

Starting Lineups

Pos.	IOWA	BILLIKENS
F.	Roach (6-6)	Nordmann (6-2)
F.	Shaw (6-6)	Reid (6-4)
C.	Nelson (6-6)	Garrison (6-8)
G.	Hankins (6-0)	Harris (6-1) or
G.	Reddington (6-1)	Kieffer (6-3) or Latinovich (6-1)

Foldberg Hired By Texas A.-M.

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Dec. 16 (UPI)—Henry (Hank) Foldberg of the University of Wichita today officially was named head football coach and athletic director at Texas A.&M. college.

The announcement came many hours after word leaked out at Wichita that the big, 38-year-old former Texan would get the post vacated by the firing of Jim Myers the day after the latter's team ended its fourth losing season Thanksgiving Day with a 23-0 loss to Cotton Bowl-bound Texas.

Foldberg informed his players of his decision yesterday during practice for the team's appearance Dec. 30 in the Sun Bowl at El Paso against Villanova.

Since he left West Point, Foldberg spent one year of his coaching career as an assistant at Texas A.&M. and also served on the staffs at Florida for seven seasons and at Purdue for one year before taking over the Wichita job two years ago.

His two Wichita teams have posted identical 8-2 seasons.

Warriors Release McNeill.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 16 (AP)—The Philadelphia Warriors of the National Basketball Association have released Bobby McNeill, a former St. Joseph's College star.

Etcheverry Ready for Final Game

Sam Etcheverry, recovered from a touch of influenza, will be the starting quarterback tomorrow as the football Cardinals seek to end their season with a victory that would give them a 7-7 record. They will meet the Pittsburgh Steelers at Busch Stadium at 1:05 p.m.

Etcheverry worked with the Cardinals yesterday. Tom Redmond and Ken Gray are scheduled for offensive guard duty, and because guard Mike McGee is sidelined, Dale Meinert, middle linebacker, and Don Owens, defensive tackle, may fill in as reserve guards on offense.

Missing from the Pittsburgh lineup that faced the Cards three weeks ago will be George Tarasovic, linebacker, and Charley Bradshaw, offensive tackle. John Nisby, usually a guard, will take Bradshaw's spot, with Ron Stehouwer filling in at Nisby's guard position.

Dick Hoak probably will be at halfback in place of Tom Tracy.

Belleville, Collinsville Meet Tonight

Belleville High and Collinsville, ranked in one poll this week as the second and third best high school basketball teams in Illinois, carry unbeaten records into their Southwestern Illinois Conference meeting tonight at Belleville.

The Maroons won last night from Granite City, 66-32, while state champion Collinsville came from behind in the fourth quarter to top East St. Louis, 64-58.

Worden won the championship of the Madison-Clinton-Macoupin County tourney by edging Bunker Hill, 80-78. A consolation semi-final of the O'Fallon tourney was just as close, the host team nipping Lebanon, 75-73. Larry Haynes scored 25 for Worden, while Bunker Hill's Denny Bruckert had 30.

Also recording a tournament victory was Wood River, 51-48 over Peoria Limestone, in the Quincy Invitational. Alton won a Southwestern Conference game from Edwardsville, 65-55. Unbeaten Waterloo stopped Nashville, 72-54, in the Cahokia Conference. Big Dennis Neumann scored 29 as Triad defeated Lincoln of East St. Louis, 64-58, in a non-league game.

Harris and Washington U. Win

Cape Five Defeats Concordia

Coach Billy Key's Harris Teachers College team rolled to its sixth straight triumph by downing William Penn of Oscaloosa, Ia., 81-60, and Washington University hit at a .459 per cent to topple Western Ontario, 78-49, in basketball games here last night.

Southeast Missouri State of Cape Girardeau won its fourth victory in five starts by beating Concordia Seminary, 74-56, at the Preachers' field house.

Harris, running its record to 7-1, started off against William Penn with a 4-0 margin and then increased its lead at halftime, 32-22. Wilber McAllister's scoring spree of seven points midway in the final half gave the Teachers a 64-43 lead.

Leader With 20 Points.

McAllister paced Harris with a total of 20 points on eight field goals and four free throws; John Reed had 19 and Preston Vanderford 16. Larry Koch, 12, and Dave Huffman, 11, were top scorers for the Iowa five.

Washington's Bears, who rebounded in the game at their field house after losing three straight, now have a 2-4 record. The Bears led 11-4 after the first four minutes of action and 42-20 at halftime. The Canadians, who play the Missouri U. Tigers tonight at Columbia, were never closer than 18 points in the second half.

Sidner Scores 21.

Art Sidner, scoring nine field goals and making three for three at the foul line, led the Bruin attack with 21 points. Three teammates, Ron Jones, Bill Roe and Tom Reitmeier, contributed 12 points each. Jim Griffin was Western Ontario's high scorer with 12 points.

Pete Pederson's Preachers, who now have a 3-6 record, gave Southeast Missouri State a close tussle in the first half and trailed 34-29 at intermission. Bill Giessing of Cape made 20 of his 33 points in the final half to shake off the Preachers. Don Matzat's 15 points was tops for Concordia.

The Preachers will be idle until Jan. 5, when they meet Kentucky State here.

CHARLES COMISKEY II sold his 46 per cent minority interest in the Chicago White Sox for about $3,000,000 to 11 Chicago business men headed by THOMAS A. REYNOLDS Jr., 33-year-old attorney. The Comiskey family had been in baseball for 61 years.

ROBERT BURNS, head football coach at Augustana College in Sioux Falls, S.D., was named to a similar position at the University of South Dakota, succeeding RALPH (BOOT) STEWART, who resigned recently. Burns formerly was a South Dakota U. captain.

The Iowa State Board of Regents voted to give coach CLAY STAPELTON a four-year contract extension, which carries through the 1966 season. He had been mentioned as a replacement for BILL JENNINGS at Nebraska.

DARRELL JOHNSON, one of just 11 former St. Louis Browns still active in the major baseball leagues, has been named St. Louis Brownie of 1961 by a Chicago fan club still bearing the name of the former team. Johnson hit .315 for Cincinnati after joining the Reds in mid-season and batted .500 in the World Series.

Braves Get Shaw, Mets Obtain Neal

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 (AP)—A flurry of last-minute activity closed out baseball's inter-league trading season. In all, there were five transactions, two of them engineered by Kansas City just minutes before the inter-league trading deadline at midnight last night.

Kansa City swapped three players for four men in the minors. In one of the Athletics' two deals pitcher Bob Shaw and reserve infilder Lou Klimchock went to Milwaukee for three rookies at Vancouver—outfielder Manny Jiminez who hit .325 last season; infielder Ed Charles, .305, and catcher Jose Azcus, .297. In the other, catcher Joe Pignatano went to San Francisco for outfielder Jose Tartabull, who hit .305 for Victoria in the Texas League last season.

Earlier in the day, the New York Mets, aiming for a representative ball club for their National League debut, acquired Charley Neal in exchange for infielder-outfielder Lee Walls, $100,000 in cash and an unnamed rookie to be delivered by the spring.

In the other deals, Cincinnati sent catcher Bob Schmidt and pitcher Dave Stenhouse to Washington for outfielder Marty Keough and another player to be named later, and Philadelphia bought third baseman Andy Carey from the Chicago White Sox for an undisclosed sum. The Phils will sent two minor leaguers to the White Sox and receive one to complete the deal.

The trade that brought Neal to the Mets was one of the more important of the trading season. Neal, 30 years old, has played second base during most of his six years in the National League. In the 1959 World Series, he hit two homers, drove in six runs and hit .370 for the Dodgers. He slumped the next two seasons, and last year had a .235 average. Walls, 28, batted .280 for the Phillies last season.

made by Belgium and Britain on the military operation in Katanga. Although insisting that the U.N. action is essential to maintain a position in Katanga and thereby open the way to end the secession of this province, Secretary of State Dean Rusk told the council that he was confident a cease-fire could be worked out under President Kennedy's proposal for mediation. Contrary to earlier reports, several NATO powers, including Norway and Denmark, sided with the United States.

Held Up 3 Hours.

The statement in the communique that held the NATO ministers for nearly three hours beyond the scheduled time to conclude was finally agreed to as follows:

"The council heard statements on Berlin by the foreign ministers of the countries most directly concerned and was informed of the intention to resume diplomatic contacts with the Soviet Union, in accordance with the aims which the West is pursuing for the maintenance of world peace and in the hope that these contacts might serve to determine whether a basis for negotiation could be found.

"Their colleagues approved the resumption of diplomatic contacts and expressed the hope that a negotiated settlement could be achieved. After full discussion of the situation, the council agreed that the alliance must continue on its resolute course, combining strength and firmness of purpose with a readiness to seek solutions by peaceful means."

It is not clear when new soundings in Moscow will be undertaken, but this is almost certain to be one of the topics of discussion between President Kennedy and Prime Minister Macmillan when they meet in Bermuda next week. The soundings will be carried out as in past months by Ambassador Lewellyn E. Thompson and British Ambassador Sir Frank Roberts.

No Optimism.

Little has come out of these soundings, and although a brave front is put on the prospect for more such exploration, privately no one here has been optimistic about the outcome. It gets down to a wait and see attitude.

Certain of the NATO allies are even more anxious than the United States for an approach to the Russians on Berlin. Paul-Henri Spaak, Belgian foreign minister, called for an immediate request for negotiation and not just for soundings. He was supported by Canada and Norway.

Concerning the military build-up for the future, the United States will be watching to see whether McNamara's prodding has had effect and whether the other NATO powers do increase their commitment in conventional weapons and manpower. If this follows, then American backing is likely for a speed-up of the independent NATO nuclear deterent.

Secretary Rusk flew to Madrid today for a meeting with Dictator Francisco Franco and other Spanish officials at lunch. He will then fly to Washington to prepare for his part in the Kennedy-Macmillan talks beginning Wednesday.

POLICE SEEKING BANK ROBBERS FOIL A HOLDUP

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 (AP) — Police and Federal Bureau of Investigation agents found last night the automobile and submachine gun used in a $35,000 Brooklyn bank robbery yesterday in which a guard was killed. They broke up a second crime in the process.

As the officers examined the abandoned getaway car found about three blocks from the scene of the holdup yesterday, an auto with a towel-draped license plate pulled away from a curb across the street.

Police ran it down and found that it contained three holdup men and two hostages, with $5000.

The hostages, Solomon Givner, owner of a supermarket in Brooklyn, and his clerk, Joseph Geoghegan, said that as they closed the supermarket and headed for a bank to make a night deposit they were kidnaped by the three men.

Police arrested the three and charged them with attempted robbery, felonious assault and violation of the anti-weapons law. They were Andrew Strauss, 23 years old; James Rocco, 23, and Thomas Selkirk, 29.

Took Only 90 Seconds.

The robbery of the branch of the Lafayette National Bank took only 90 seconds. Manager John Condon, 28, said "it seemed like an eternity."

Besides the guard who was killed a patrolman missed death only because his badge was hit by the bullet. An unidentified customer apparently escaped only because of his fleetness afoot. The customer defied the robbers and fled through the door.

As the robbers entered the bank, one man fired a burst from the submachine gun, killing Henry A. Kraus, 53, a guard, as he still sat in a chair.

Patrolman Salvatore Accardi, 30, who had been tipped about the robbery by the fleeing customer, appeared. As he and the two robbers shot at each other, a bullet struck the shield he wore over his heart and sent him reeling through the door.

Left $10,000 in Cash.

Accardi did not at first realize that the bullet had not penetrated his body.

"I thought I was going to die," he said later.

The robbers fled in such haste that they left about $10,000 in cash on the floor behind them. The bank's walls were pockmarked with about 20 bullet holes.

There were about 12 customers in the bank during the robbery. All were herded against the wall, except for the man who fled.

Police, hopeful that someone may have seen the robbers, set up a special telephone last night for calls from residents. They gave assurances that any volunteered information would be confidential.

SENTENCE IN TV QUIZ

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 (AP) — Ruth Miller, a defendant in the perjury trials of 13 television quiz show contestants, received a suspended sentence yesterday after pleading guilty of receiving help in winning $2500 on the show "21." Charles Van Doren, Elfrida Von Nardroff, Hank Bloomgarden and others are to appear in special sessions court Jan. 10.

Reds Kill Priest in Viet Nam.

SAIGON, South Viet Nam, Dec. 16 (AP)—A French priest was killed Wednesday by the Communist Viet Cong when visiting his parishioners at a village about 300 miles north of Saigon, the Government press agency reported yesterday. The Viet Cong killed another priest of the same parish last September.

China Rejected

the exception of Cuba, opposed the Soviet resolution although earlier Brazil and one or two others had indicated that they were wavering in their support for the United States position.

The United States was able to obtain abstentions or favorable votes from the so-called Brazzaville group of African nations retaining close ties with France. They acted in exchange for U.S. help in obtaining entrance of Mauritania in the U.N. October 6.

Soviet Reaction.

After yesterday's vote, which followed two weeks of debate, the Soviet delegate, Valerian A. Zorin, said he was sure that many nations which had been induced to oppose Red China this year would change their minds at the next session.

Adlai E. Stevenson, the United States delegate, said that he was gratified by the results.

Besides the Latin American bloc, countries that opposed the Soviet resolution included most European nations, members of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization, a number of African and Arab states, and the older members of the British Commonwealth.

Britain, however, voted for the admission of Red China. So did Denmark, Norway and Sweden, all of which, like Britain, recognize Peiping. Except for the Brazzaville group, most of the new African nations supported the resolution, although Nigeria and Tunisia abstained. Britain voted with the United States on the two-thirds question.

Norway, recorded as abstaining in the China vote, announced later that it wanted to change its vote to favor seating Red China, but Assembly rules provide that no change can be made once a roll-call vote has been officially tallied.

MAN WHO SHOT WIDOW GETS 8 YEARS FOR MANSLAUGHTER

John R. Ridley, a Wellston coal dealer, was sentenced to eight years in the penitentiary yesterday by St. Louis County Circuit Judge Noah Weinstein in Clayton. Ridley pleaded guilty of manslaughter last Sept. 27 in the shooting of Mrs. Ada Williams, a widow.

The shooting took place at Ridley's home, 6201A Ridge avenue, last Aug. 9. Ridley told police that he and Mrs. Williams, of the same address, quarreled over money, and that when she blocked a door and threatened him with an ice pick, he shot her in self defense.

DRIVER WHO LEFT ACCIDENT SCENE IS PLACED ON PAROLE

Theodore Kemper of Foley, Mo., who pleaded guilty Dec. 4 of leaving the scene of an accident in St. Louis county, was placed on probation for a year by Circuit Judge Noah Weinstein yesterday. The court directed that Kemper not drive an automobile in that period without the consent of his parole officer.

Kemper's car struck another machine on the Mark Twain expressway last Sept. 28. He failed to stop at the time, but later surrendered to the State Highway Patrol.

REACTOR FOR ANTARCTIC

NORFOLK, Va., Dec. 16 (AP) —The Navy attack cargo ship Arneb has arrived at McMurdo Sound, in the Antarctic, with a $4,000,000 nuclear reactor aboard, the Navy said yesterday.

The ship was met by Seabees, who will construct a plant to house the reactor. The Arneb will make three trips to Christ Church, New Zealand, to pick up supplies for the base at McMurdo Sound.

school. Thereafter, he said, it might be carried to a higher university official.

'Decisive Action Needed.'

"The circumstances under which the protest was made threatened the academic structure of the school," he said. "In order to protect that structure, decisive and immediate action was required, and such action was taken."

Dr. Colbert said the firings were recommended by four major full-time professors in the school. He said Dr. Janney and Dr. Melick, furthermore, were not regular faculty appointees nor members of the academic community.

Dr. Colbert said his own dismissal came as a surprise. "It all happened so quickly," he said, adding that he has no immediate plans.

Father Reinert could not be reached for comment.

Points to Progress.

Dr. Colbert said that the School of Medicine has made outstanding progress in his tenure as dean. It has moved "from a state of grave educational crisis to an institution of superior quality," he said.

"The faculty has tripled in this time, and the departments of medicine, microbiology, pharmacology, pediatrics, preventive medicine and psychiatry have all been reorganized and advanced," he said.

Research awards and grants to faculty members have increased from $183,000 a year to almost $2,000,000 a year while he has been dean, Dr. Colbert said.

Dr. Colbert is a graduate of the Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons. He was assistant dean of the School of Medicine at Yale University before coming to St. Louis University.

of the two types of civil action he might file.

He said he is in the process of sending registered letters to firms which have violated the law in the past, notifying them of the requirements of the law and of the possible consequences.

In Jefferson City, Eagleton reported he has received many calls from merchants in the St. Louis area asking what the state's immediate plans are. In many cases, he said, the merchants told of building up large inventories for Christmas business.

Eagleton said his response to the queries was that the law should be obeyed immediately.

A Kansas City firm, Parkview Drugs, has announced that it will remain open on Sundays and "will sell anything anyone wants to buy." Jackson County Prosecuting Attorney William Collet said he will not begin enforcing the law until 1962.

CARBON DIOXIDE PRICE-FIXING DRAWS $186,000 U.S. FINES

The New York Herald Tribune-Post-Dispatch Special Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 — Four leading carbon dioxide producers were fined $180,000 and four top executives of two firms a total of $6000 yesterday for ignoring a 1952 anti-trust decree and continuing to fix prices into 1960.

The companies, and their fines, are General Dynamics Corp., $75,000; Air Reduction Co. Inc., $60,000; Chemtron Corp., $25,000; and Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., $20,000. The assessments were levied by United States District Judge Jacob Mishler in Brooklyn.

Among them, these four firms divide more than four fifths of total sales in the $70,000,000-a-year carbon dioxide industry. The Department of Justice, charged that the four invented prices and eliminated competition for 3,000,000 pounds of liquid carbon dioxide sold to the Atomic Energy Commission's works in Hanford, Wash. Carbon dioxide, which under pressure becomes dry ice, is used in refrigeration, rocket fuels testing, fire extinguishers and carbonated soft drinks.

EISENHOWER, AID SAY U.S. SHOULD MAKE ATOM TESTS

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Dec. 16 (UPI)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and his secretary of state, Christian A. Herter, agreed yesterday that this country should make whatever nuclear tests that are deemed necessary "to assure the security of America and the free world."

The two, who held an unannounced meeting in Eisenhower's office, agreed also that a "steady, gradual liberalization of trade restraints" is necessary for this country to meet the economic problems posed by the European Common Market.

A spokesman for Eisenhower said the two men conferred on these and other "international affairs that affect our nation." The meeting lasted approximately an hour and a half.

U.S. POPULATION RISE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16 (AP) —The population of the United States has increased by about 28,000,000 in the last 10 years, the Census Bureau said yesterday.

As of Nov. 1, the Bureau said, the estimated total population, excluding armed forces abroad, was 183,995,000. The estimate on Jan. 1, 1952, was 155,790,000. The Nov. 1 estimate represents an increase of 4,672,000, or 2.6 per cent, since the census on April 1, 1960.

a NEW YEAR...NEW OPPORTUNITIES... with CHRYSLER Missile Division

Detroit, Michigan — Huntsville, Alabama

New and varied opportunities are available with Chrysler Missile Division in a wide range of engineering and scientific disciplines encompassing some of today's most advanced aero space programs. Both challenge and diversity are offered by NASA's SATURN and MERCURY programs as well as by a variety of advanced research and development projects.

HUNTSVILLE

SR. AERODYNAMICIST

To determine the aerobalistic characteristics of various missile configurations and to assess the stability and control and performance of these missiles.

AEROELASTICIANS

To perform analysis of complex structures and component systems as well as flutter and divergence analysis and establish stability of aerodynamic surfaces.

SR. HEAT TRANSFER ANALYST
(Thermo & Fluid Flow)

To perform advanced research and analysis in transient and steady state heat transfer. Further responsibilities include analysis of large liquid propellant rocket engines from model test and telemetry data and rocket engine base heating and space vehicle exterior heating analyses using digital and analog computers. An engineering degree and 4-7 years' related experience are required.

HEAT TRANSFER ENGINEERS

To perform advanced analysis of large liquid and solid rocket booster base heating problems associated with prelaunch and flight conditions from analytical and wind tunnel test data.

SR. SYSTEMS ENGINEER

To perform studies concerning advanced concepts of aerospace systems engineering. Incumbent should have experience in one or more of the following areas: Systems Engineering, propulsion systems and thermodynamics studies or Operations Research. An engineering degree with graduate studies required; a Masters' Degree preferred.

SR. ELECTRONIC DESIGN ENGINEER

To establish concepts and accomplish feasibility studies, analysis and preliminary design of missile and satellite guidance systems. These systems will incorporate digital computers. Further responsibilities include affecting solution of equations of motion for space vehicles. A MS in Physics or EE with at least 4 years' experience in both theoretical and applied aspects of guidance systems and a strong math background are required.

ELECTRONIC DESIGN ENGINEER

To design and develop RF networks utilized in missile instrumentation. A BSEE and at least 3 years' related experience.

ENGINEERING MATHEMATICIAN

Requires experience in the analysis of sampled data systems utilizing power spectral densities, correlation functions, error functions, and other theoretical methods of deriving physically meaningful information based on random measurements of physical quantities related to vibratory and acoustical fields. An Engineering Degree and 4-6 years' experience in Engineering Statistics required. Advanced degree desirable.

SR. PRODUCTION ENGINEER

To engage in production and process engineering of missile electrical systems and components. 5 years' related experience required; a degree desirable but not mandatory.

POWER PLANT ANALYST

To perform evaluation of liquid propulsion rocket engines and related systems from recorded flights and static test data. BSAE or ME and 2-4 years' related background including computer experience are required.

ENGINEER
(Chemical or Mechanical)

Incumbent must be familiar with equipment procedures and solutions for maintaining super clean conditions in propellant and hydraulic systems. Experience should include design development and field testing of missile ground support equipment. 1-2 years' related experience and a BS ChE or ME are required.

STRUCTURES ENGINEER

To review designs of missile structural components for prevention of corrosion and galvanic action.

STANDARDS ANALYSTS

To analyze and evaluate design and development results for electrical specifications, standards and design guide line requirements. 3-4 years' applicable experience and a familiarity with MIL specifications are required.

DETROIT—

AERODYNAMICISTS

To analyze complex research and development problems in one of the areas of aerodynamics, aero-thermodynamics, trajectory and guidance analysis or flight dynamics; to perform systematic studies of physical and environmental effects on missiles. An engineering degree and related experience are required.

RE-ENTRY MATERIALS ENGINEERS

Openings at all levels for Materials Engineers to perform engineering analysis, testing, and product development on thermal protection systems for re-entry and space vehicles. Emphasis will be on evaluation of ablative, mass transfer and other techniques considering materials effects upon reacting gases in hyperaonic flow and for mass addition on boundary layer chemistry and thermodynamics studies or Operations Research. An engineering degree with graduate studies required; a Masters' Degree preferred. Applicants should have experience in both the design and performance of test programs, with degrees, preferably advanced, in Aero-Physics, Physical Chemistry or Metallurgy.

ASSOCIATE SCIENTISTS

To perform advanced theoretical analyses in one of the following areas related to re-entry vehicles: 1) shock layer radiogenics with consideration of relaxation effects in reacting gases and viscous-inviscid interactions; 2) ablative, mass transfer and other techniques considering effects on reacting gases in hypersonic flow; 3) plasma flow on wake and re-entry vehicle communications to develop plasma diagnostic techniques and lead a research effort on a hypersonic test facility. 2-4 years' related experience and a degree preferably PhD. in Physics, Aerophysics or Aerodynamics are required.

ELECTRICAL ENGINEERS
(Electromagnetic Radiation)

To engage in theoretical and experimental studies of radar cross sections. Incumbent will develop and design configurations of aerobalistic bodies associated with the missile field for requisite radar cross sections and will assist in setting up a model radar range facility to implement experimental work. Further responsibilities will include assisting in the development and design of systems and components related to the field of electromagnetic radiation such as radar and space communication systems. A degree, Masters desirable, in EE or Physics with a strong math background and at least 4 years' experience in applied mathematics are required.

ELECTRICAL ENGINEERS

To perform independent analysis of closed loop systems for stability, response, etc. and to arrive at design recommendations. A BSME or EE and 3 years' related experience required.

MATHEMATICAL PROGRAMMERS

To apply digital computer programming techniques to the solution of engineering problems on Philco 2000 computer. These positions require a BS or BS in Mathematics and at least one year's experience in digital computer programming or applied mathematics. FORTRAN experience also desirable.

RESEARCH PHYSICISTS
(Electro-Optics)

To participate in programs concerned with applied research, development and design of optical devices and systems and their application to the guidance and control of missiles and other space vehicles. These positions require a Bachelors or Advanced Degree in engineering or Physics and 3 or more years related background including experience in polarized light, infra-red and geometrical optics.

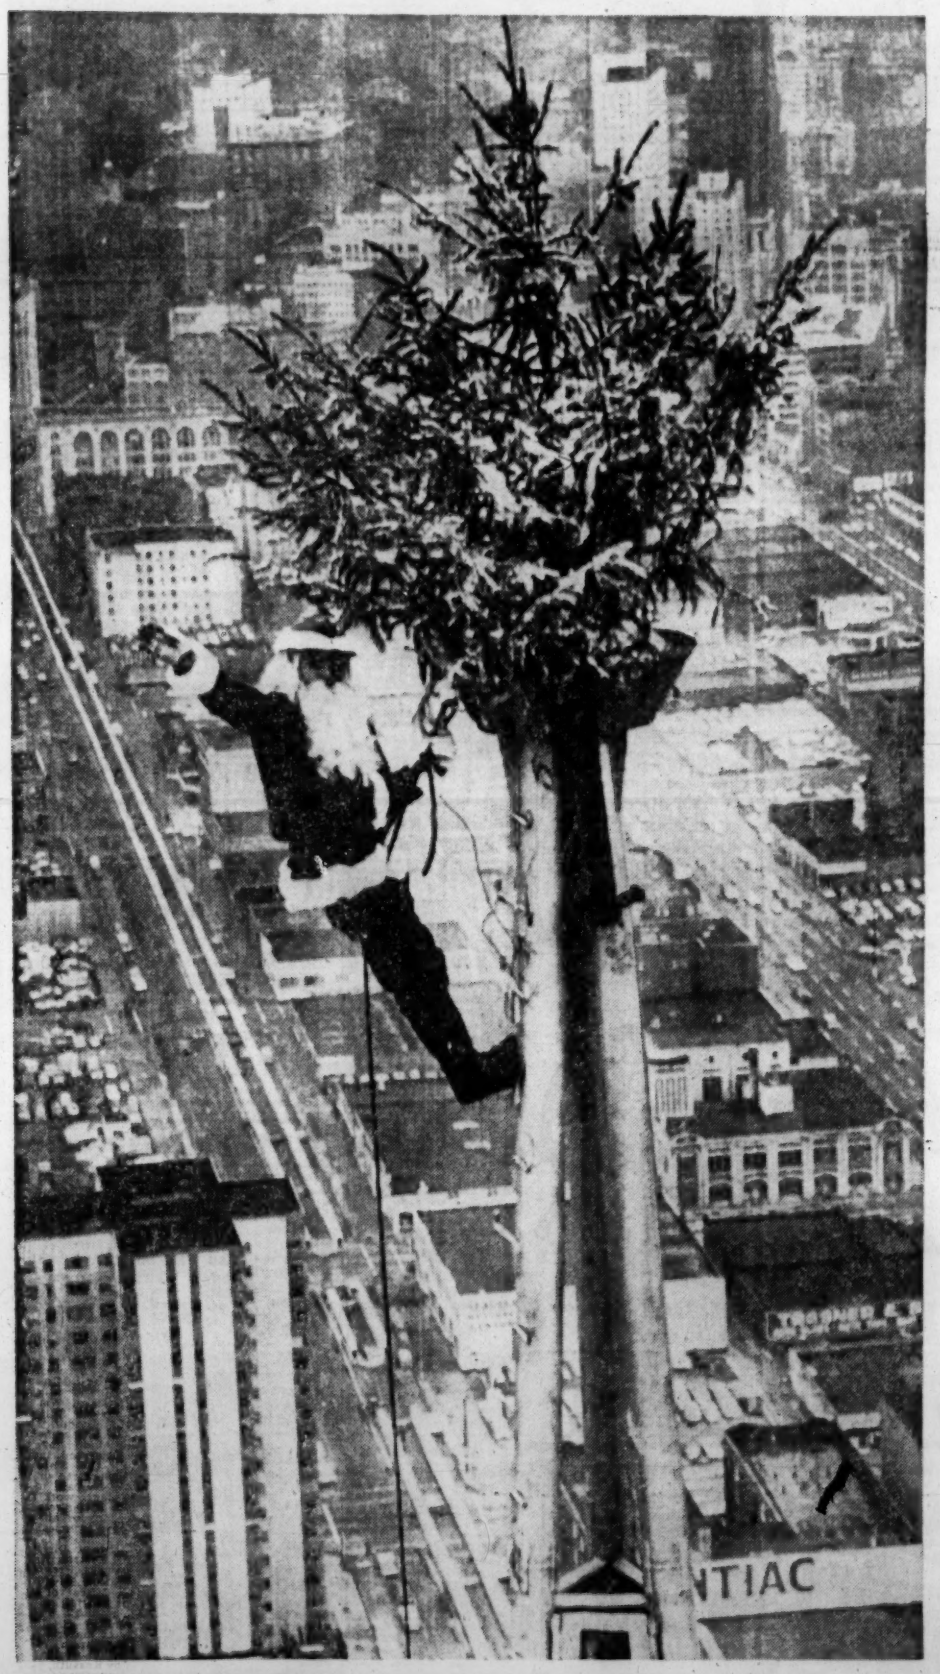
Misplaced Bridge Sections

Huge steel girders of bridge sections created traffic jam yesterday afternoon after they fell off truck at St. Louis exit of the Veterans Bridge. Long line of westbound vehicles was backed up on the span until mobile crane reloaded the girders onto the truck. —By a Post-Dispatch Photographer.

Searching for Savings

Pensioner Joseph Krogul is anxious onlooker as Volunteers of America worker examines old magazines and newspapers in Detroit warehouse. Krogul had concealed $600 in savings in a magazine and belatedly remembered his hoard after giving a bunch of old periodicals to the organization. Thousands of newspapers and magazines have been thumbed through, but so far the money has not been found. —Associated Press Wirephoto.



Tree in the Sky

Steeplejack Bob Kessler, dressed in a Santa Claus outfit, waves greeting after topping off the Seattle World's Fair Space Needle with a Christmas tree 600 feet above the downtown area. A revolving restaurant and observation platform are being built near the top of the needle. White lines of a monorail, which will carry passengers from downtown to the fair in 90 seconds, are in center of street in foreground. The fair will open in April. —Associated Press Wirephoto.

Street Gang Vengeance

Youths in Santo Domingo pound and batter an automobile reputedly owned by a government spy as street gangs wreck vengeance on persons accused of being informers. Dominican police, cracking down on the roaming gangs, have arrested 21 persons on charges of vandalism. —UPI Telephoto.

Red Hunt In the Delta

South Viet Namese officer peering through field glasses at Communist Viet Cong rebels dominating villages in the Mekong river delta as combat patrol prepares to attack the Red positions. A battalion of government troops conducted an amphibious assault against six villages under control of the rebels, but the main body of the Viet Cong slipped through the trap. —Associated Press Wirephoto.

Crater and the H-Bomb

By Ramon Coffman

HERE IS PART of a letter from 11-year-old Donald K. Speed Jr.:

"I have heard that if a 50-megaton bomb fell on a city, it would make a hole 400 feet deep and about a mile wide.

"While I was visiting Arizona, I saw Meteor Crater, which is about a mile wide and 400 feet deep. Did the meteor that made the crater have a force of 50 megatons?"

The mighty hole described by Donald may have been made by the head of a small comet, instead of by a meteor. In any case, the force must have been equal to a 50-megaton bomb.

If bombs of that strength fell on cities, or other places on dry land, they would make gigantic holes. These would be radioactive for a long time, and it would be necessary for everyone to steer clear of them.

On the other hand, it is a mistake to suppose that people who may leave a fallout shelter, after staying inside for two weeks, would meet with deadly rays wherever they went. Civil defense experts tell us that much of the land would be free from special danger.

Another reader has asked me whether fallout will cause sickness.

"Fallout sickness" is expected to attack people who are exposed to much fallout. If the exposure is short, and if the radioactive dust is removed from the clothing promptly, sickness may be avoided.

Broadway Beacon

By Walter Winchell

CELEBS ABOUT TOWN: J. P. Kennedy (Caroline's Grandpa) chatting with the Monsignore doorman. . . . Katharine Hepburn stepping from her car (Conn-KH6) at Fifty-third and Madison in baggy slacks and man's hat. . . . Danny Kaye giving the cold Park avenue wind the upturned collar. . . . Mrs. Jack Dempsey, whose husband's bar is the most famous along Broadway. She never imbibes. . . . Joan Bennett, chic, trim and girlish, amazing Bon Soir table neighbors with her zing. . . . Benny Goodman and borrowed clarinet joining Lionel Hampton's jazztronauts at the Metropole. . . . Janis Paige at Cafe Torino in gold leotards and gold-rimmed specs.

Sallies in Our Alley: Some comedians at the Stork Club were gabbing about Bob Hope . . . "How many writers do you think he has?" asked one . . . "All of them!" boomed another.

Memos of a Midnighter: Lucky Marie McDonald. She begged the "Let It Ride" people to give her the leading role (in return for a six-figure cash investment) in the flop and they turned her down! . . . Wendy Nickerson (of the "Subways" show) soon middle-aisles with chemist Charles Maynard. . . . Midtown detectives investigating pay-envelope burglaries at a big musical (over a dozen thefts) suspect a member of the cast. . . . The International owner found out that the twist publicity isn't worth money. He announced a twist matinee the other Sabbath and only 30 patrons responded. . . . Deborah Kerr's movie "The Innocents" shows her on screen for 95 of the 99 minutes.

Behind-the-Scenery: The outdoor scenes for Elia Kanzan's walloping film hit, "Splendor in the Grass," were shot at High Falls, N.Y., a tiny hamlet between Kingston and New Paltz. . . . At High Falls resides an elderly woman, who exists in hermit-like solitude in a rambling, ramshackle house. . . . It is here that she raises guinea pigs for sale to medical labs. . . . One assumes that Mr. Kazan paid a goodly sum for the use of the retreat—making her sunset years secure. . . . The lonely lady? . . . Producer Kazan's aunt.

Stage Door: Ethel Barrymore Colt will be the understudy for Eileen Herlie in John Logan's musical, "All-American." . . . Carol Lawrence, leading lady of "Subways Are For Sleeping," and her agents (MCA) divorced. She alleges misrepresentation. . . . Sophia Loren has made a million to date from "Two Women." They predict she will make two million from her next Italo-import "Boccaccio 70." . . . Handclappers at the Crystal Room wonder why Ralph Satiago, the singing-drummer, doesn't try for the opera. He quit opera because the eating wasn't steady. . . . "South Pacific," the flicker, which fizzled in the United States, continues big in London where it has run 3½ years.

Broadway Pizza: Talk about lucky! Two of the top hits are "A Shot in the Dark" and "Write Me a Murder." Julie Harris (star of the first play) and her mate have money in both. . . . Shubert Alley fears Katharine Cornell has deserted the footlights.
